MINUTES OF ANNUAL MEETING

APRIL 23, 1927, MISSION MEMORIAL BUILDING

Business Meeting

In accordance with the amendment to the By-Laws voted at the annual meeting of 1926, business matters were transacted at a separate meeting. This was held at 2 o'clock, one hour previous to the program of entertainment.

The meeting came to order with the President, C. W. Dickey, in the chair.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were read in an abridged form, the Secretary stating that these had been printed in the annual report and had gone out to the members. The minutes were approved as read.

The President then read his report which is printed elsewhere. This was accepted and ordered placed on file, with a vote of thanks for his efficient services.

The Treasurer's report was presented in a summarized form, showing total receipts and expenditures of the various accounts for the year 1926. As this report had not been audited, it was moved and seconded that it be accepted and placed on file subject to audit. This report is printed in full elsewhere.

The Treasurer was then called on for an estimated budget of appropriations for the coming year. This was given as follows:

Salary of Secretary	$900
Salary of Recorder	300
Salary of Mrs. R. W. Andrews	300
Scholarships, 3 girls at Maunaolu Seminary	125
To Aintab Mission, Turkey	100

Mr. W. W. Chamberlain moved that items of additional expenditure, such as the upkeep of the grounds, Library expense, and any additional expense in connection with the three girls at Maunaolu Seminary, be left to the decision of the incoming Board of Managers for the ensuing year. Carried.

Mr. Theodore A. Cooke, chairman, presented the following report of the Nominating Committee for officers for the ensuing year:

Mrs. J. P. Morgan	President
Mr. H. Harvey Hitchcock	Vice President
Mr. W. W. Chamberlain	Treasurer
Miss Harriet G. Forbes	Secretary
Miss Agnes E. Judd	Recorder
Mr. Bernard H. Damon	Auditor

It was moved that the nominations be closed, by the President casting the ballot.

The business meeting then adjourned, but was reconvened for the passing of a special vote of thanks to the retiring President and the officers who had served during the past year; proposed by Wm. J. Forbes and carried.

About half an hour was then spent in sociability. Some of the Cousins had not been able to attend for several years; others were present for the first time and getting acquainted.

Commemorative Meeting

This session was called to order at 3:10 by the singing of "Blest be the Tie that Binds", Mrs. Caroline Castle Westervelt at the piano. An appropriate prayer was offered by Rev. A. S. Baker.

President Dickey referred again to the anniversary which was being celebrated and reviewed briefly the founding of the Society seventy-five years ago. He thought Luther Halsey Gulick must have had much magnetism to have enthused his young friends here so that they offered to support him as their missionary to the Micronesian islands. Reference was made to young Asa G. Thurston who drafted the first Constitution of the Society, and to Orramel Gulick who suggested the name of "Cousins." Mr. Dickey said we were very fortunate in having fourteen living members of the Society who became members during its first year, and read their names as follows:

Mrs. Emma (Lyman) Wilcox, Mr. George N. Wilcox, Mrs. Emily (Alexander) Baldwin, Mrs. Ann (Alexander) Dickey, Miss Jane Knox Pogue, Mrs. Harriet (Baldwin) Damon, Rev. Henry H. Parker, Mrs. Harriet (Parker) Green, Mrs. Ann Eliza (Clark) Gulick, Miss Julia A. E. Gulick, Mr. Joseph S. Emerson, Mr. William O. Smith, Dr. Benjamin D. Bond and William R. Castle. He asked the last six, who were the only ones present, to rise as their names were called. While standing, the newly-elected president, Mrs. Rosamond (Swanzy) Morgan, placed a plumaria lei around each neck.

Mrs. Frances (Gulick) Jewett was also honored with a lei, because she is the daughter of Luther Halsey Gulick in whose interest the Society was founded.

Reminiscences of the very early days of the Society were rather hard to bring to light. However, two of the fourteen sent in short articles and these were read by Miss Agnes Judd for Miss Julia Gulick and Mr. Joseph S. Emerson. (Printed elsewhere.)

Cousin Ethel Damon's illustrated talk on Architecture of Hawaiian Homes and Churches was most interesting. Beginning with the Hawaiian thatched house which the missionaries found here, she showed the introduction of the early New England type, a combination of Hawaiian and New England, a drawing away from the old type, and finally our present type of architecture in these islands.

On the completion of Miss Damon's talk, the time had expired for this part of the program, and the President asked for a vote on the showing of last year movie pictures in order to proceed to the roll-call. The vote was in favor of seeing the movies. Under the able management of Cousin Theodore A. Cooke, these were shown. While he was preparing his projector a collection of $69.94 was taken (including one Hawaiian half dollar). Just before the movies began, Mr. Dickey announced that almost the last pictures of Cousin Sanford Ballard Dole would appear on this film, and that this was his birthday, April 23rd. There was applause as Mr. Dole's well known figure came into view, and the same appreciation for several other Cousins, one being Joseph S. Emerson hovering over the pink oleander bush.

The roll-call was next announced, with Wm. W. Chamberlain in charge. This resulted as follows:

Judds 27, Cookes 19, Clarks 15, Smiths (J. W.) 12, Bonds 10, Chamberlains 10, Halls 9, Alexanders 8, Baldwins 8, Bishops 8, Paris 7, Rices 7, Castles 6, Binghams 5, Forbes 5, Andrews 3, Dimonds 3, Doles 3, Lymans 3, Rowells 3, Armstrongs 2, Damons 2, Emersons 2, Gulicks 2, Lyons 2, Smiths (Lowell) 2, Thurstons 2, Baileys 1, Greens 1, Johnsons 1, Parkers 1.

After singing one verse of "Greenland's Icy Mountains" the Star-Bulletin photographer took some pictures on the lawn, and the meeting for this year came to a close.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Our Society is seventy-five years old this year which gives special significance to our annual meeting and the event will be fittingly observed later this afternoon.

It is certainly gratifying to note that the organization has not only survived the vicissitudes of time but is still going strong with the full vigor of youth. The age of seventy-five years has sometimes been called "the youth of old age" and we hope that this seventy-fifth year in the history of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society may prove to be the youth of its old age and that it may exist for many years to the benefit of mankind and may serve to keep alive the memory of our missionary forefathers.

A great deal of the work of the past year has been routine business. The Board of Managers have held three well attended meetings. We have taken in twenty-six new life members and have lost nineteen members through death. Steps have been taken for the preservation of the old Mission Buildings on King Street from termites. Some handsome sign boards marking the Mission premises were presented by Miss Beatrice Castle. We have supported three Hawaiian girls at Maunolu Seminary, have paid $75.00 toward the support of a girl at Kawaiahao Seminary and have contributed $100.00 to the Aintab Mission in Turkey. But the outstanding accomplishment of the year has been the publication of a most interesting little pamphlet entitled "The Story of the Three Old Buildings in Honolulu." The material for the pamphlet was compiled last year by our Secretary Emeritus, Mrs. R. W. Andrews, and edited and published this year under the direction of Miss Ethel M. Damon. It gives a brief history of the old buildings on King Street and forms a most valuable addition to the printed record of old missionary days.

One of the most important functions of our Society, as expressed in its charter is "promoting union among its members." This means the closest possible contact and communication between our officers and our members at large and any delay in acknowledging the receipt of letters or remittances from members is to be deplored. Unfortunately the heaviest work of our Treasurer and his assistant comes at a time of year when all those connected with Hawaiian corporations are extremely busy and it has been found almost impossible for these officers to properly handle the work. The matter has given much concern to your Board of Managers and after careful consideration they wish to recommend to the incoming President and Board, that in making up their budget for the coming year, a sum be set aside sufficient to pay for the employment of a clerical assistant in the Secretary's office during the rush periods of the year to assist the Treasurer in his arduous duties and to enable him to keep up with the work of his office. We feel that the small expense involved will be amply repaid by the results obtained.

In closing, I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the officers and to the members of the Board of Managers who have so efficiently and unselfishly assisted me during the past year. Their hearty cooperation has made the work a real pleasure.

C. W. DICKEY,
President.

EARLY "COUSINS" SOCIETY MEETINGS

By JULIA A. E. GULICK

The first one that I have any idea about must have been three years after the organization, or 1855, at which my brother Orramel and Annie were married, and all that I remember of that is the wedding. The most wonderful which I ever attended, probably my first haole wedding.

The bride and her two maids in their fluffy white muslin dresses, and their leis, the bride's of sweet white jasmine blossoms and the bridesmaids' of papaia blossoms, which I had a share in making, which made them of special interest to me.

I have a vague recollection of hearing my brothers talk with much satisfaction of the first informal gathering, at which the idea of forming such a society was broached, and at which a tentative plan was adopted, I think.

I expect that I, being the baby of the family, and only seven years old, mother did not send me to any evening meeting.

Manoa, Honolulu,
April 11, 1927.

The annual meeting of the Mission Children's Society was held at the time of the "General Meeting" of the Missionary Fathers when entire families would meet for a short time in Honolulu. I remember very well being brought by my parents, riding in from Waialua, sometimes breaking the journey at Ewa, where we were hospitably entertained by the family of Rev. Artemas Bishop. I probably attended nearly all the early annual meetings and some of the monthly meetings of the Society. They were the great social event that the mission children looked forward to. I went to Punahou in March, 1854, and was very seldom absent from the meetings during my sojourn there.

The lighting of the streets in those days being most elementary, or entirely absent, our meetings were always held on the Saturday nearest to the full moon, when we would meet at some centrally located home willing to receive us. The older and more serious members would meet in the parlor, but smaller children and some frivolous-minded older members formed a "veranda brigade", where we little boys used to get what fun we could and the older ones carried on mild flirtations which sometimes developed into more serious devotion.

Miss Mattie A. Chamberlain, corresponding secretary, once remarked at a meeting "We have existed ..... years without refreshments." This was true so far as eating and drinking were concerned, but there was a great deal of real mental feeding derived from the letters from Micronesia which were always read when received. I took the greatest interest in them and early learned the names of the different islands and various details about them. We were kept well posted about the work of each one of the missionaries to those tiny islands. It was a real education to listen to those letters, and on the return of the "Morning Star" from her trips there, the members of the Mission returning on furlough and officers of the ship would come and talk to us, getting us extremely interested in the subject, that was also an important theme in the Church services.

At a much later meeting, held in the old Fort Street Church, which was to be addressed by Captain Bray, of the "Morning Star," and the Rev. ..... Walkup, as I was sitting waiting for the meeting to open a well-known witty "Cousin" walked up the aisle and remarked to me "Did you come to hear these gentlemen walkup and bray?" a remark which caused a smile on the faces of the few who heard it.

B. HOWELL BOND,
Treasurer,
Hawaiian Mission Children's Society.

Honolulu, T. H., May 11, 1927.—I have audited the accounts kept by the Treasurer of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society for the year ended December 31, 1926, and have to report to the Members of the Society that I have obtained all the information and explanations that I require. In my opinion, the statement of Assets and Liabilities shown is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Society's affairs, according to the best of my information and the explanations given to me and as shown by the books of the Society.

(Signed) BERNARD H. DAMON,
Auditor,
Hawaiian Mission Children's Society.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

PROTEGES

Madeline Nicholas, our senior protege at Maunaolu Seminary, spent the summer vacation of 1926 in Honolulu with her relatives. Before returning to Maui in September she called at the Secretary's office, went through the old mission buildings and talked over her future plans. She is graduating in June.

In March of this year, Miss Nance, the principal at Maunaolu, gave us the following report: "Madeline is almost an "A" pupil. She has only a few marks below A. With us an A grade is 95 to 100, so you see she is doing very fine work. She is carrying piano and doing well in it. Her deportment has been good. We shall be proud to have Madeline numbered among Maunaolu's graduates.

"Mary Naukana is the same hot-headed, heedless child, but she is maturing somewhat. Sometimes we feel that she is a boy instead of a girl, so rough and rude are her ways with the girls. She is lovable with all of her faults. Her school work is below medium, almost failing to pass in some subjects. I do not know whether she will finally pull through arithmetic and history to graduation.

"Grace Papalimu is settling down to work in a nice way. She is doing only average work, but she is young and has not had a chance to improve as many have. Her deportment is good. I think she does not mean to be disobedient, just forgets. She is a lovable child."

In May of last year it was found necessary by the Board of Managers to cut down the Society's scholarship appropriations somewhat. Having seen Helen Iona through the Grammar School department at Kawaiahao Seminary, it was voted to assume the part payment only of a new girl at Kawaiahao for this school year.

Rhoda Ke was selected for us by Mrs. Margaret (Waterhouse) Walker. Rhoda is about fifteen, is ambitious to help herself and is making a good record at the school. She is part Hawaiian, Chinese and Irish, a bright girl with a lot of enthusiasm and some natural gift of leadership. She will graduate in June from the Grammar School department.

VISITORS

Mr. L. K. Strong, whose grandmother on his mother's side was a sister of Rev. Reuben Tinker, called with his wife on December 30th and 31st, 1926 to get into closer touch with the memory of his missionary grand-uncle, of whom he had heard much. His mother's maiden name was Lyman, but he was not positive of claiming connection with David B. Lyman of early Hilo days. He is now living in Santa Ana, Calif.

Miss Nancy Emerson Jones of Seattle, called in July, 1926. Her grandmother was a sister of Rev. J. S. Emerson, the missionary who was stationed so long at Waialua, this island. She naturally looked up the Joseph Emersons.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. B. Robinson, of Los Angeles, Calif., friends of Mrs. Wm. Horace Day (who was Miss Julia H. Lyman), called in Sept. and again in October, and were much interested in anything pertaining to the Lyman family.

Miss E. Louise Patten, of Somers, Conn., called Nov. 27th. She knows the Misses Mary and Kate Reynolds. Miss Patten spent the winter months here, and then moved on to the Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Buell, of Madison, Wis., were among callers on Feb. 24, 1927. Mrs. Buell knows well "Cousin" Frances (Peck) Loomis.

Another caller on Feb. 24th was Miss Irene H. Moore, of Pasadena, Calif. Her great-grandmother was a sister of Mrs. Fidelia Church Coan, the first wife of Titus Coan. She made inquiries for Coan descendants, but we were able to tell her very little.

Mrs. Clara J. Craft, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Henry B. Barnes, of Cleveland, had recently been in the Philippines when they called on March 3rd. They know Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Townsend and our new cousin, Mrs. Melicent (King) Hall, also the Upson family (Lyman connections) in Hollywood and Cleveland.

Mr. E. H. Baker, from Cleveland, Ohio, a prominent newspaper man, called March 10th. He knows Arthur D. Baldwin, of Cleveland. Was much interested in our two oldest newspapers (published in Hawaiian in 1834 and 1835) and asked to take a moving picture of them.

Asking for information about the Judd family, Mrs. S. D. Van Woert, of New York City, called March 18th. Her aunt, Mrs. C. A. French, of Belmont, Mass., was born in Honolulu in 1858, in the early home of Dr. G. P. Judd, while her parents, Captain and Mrs. Devoll were here for a year. Mrs. Van Woert was a world-tour passenger on the "Empress of Scotland" and here only one day. She hopes to return.

We heard of the welfare of Miss Alice Little, one of our Honorary members, through the call of Mrs. L. S. Pease, of Wauwatosa, Wis., on March 28th. Mrs. Pease knows Miss Little well and meets her at Woman's Board meetings.

Miss J. E. Davis and Miss M. W. Bishop, both of whom formerly taught at Hampton Institute, Va., knew Gen. Sam Armstrong and many of the other members of the Armstrong family, called April 7th, and were also present at our annual meeting, by special invitation. Miss Davis has taught at Hampton forty-seven years.

GROUNDS, BUILDINGS AND IMPROVEMENTS

In July, 1926, an art metal filing case was installed in the Secretary's office to hold the correspondence, etc.

September proved to be the month for inspection, overhauling and renewing. Borers were found in the old Dimond bookbindery press. After treating with kerosene, it was decided to run no chances, so one upright end-piece was removed and renewed. As the press weighs a ton or two, we had to call on some of the men working at Kawaiahao Church to move and lay it on its side.

At the same time, three unsafe floor boards in the old Frame House (entry to the kitchen), were removed, as one of the Cousins almost fell through. The appearance of these borer-eaten boards led our President to ask for a thorough inspection of the three buildings by Mr. Ehrhorn, the expert on termites. Considering our proximity to Kawaiahao Church, this was a very wise step. Mr. Ehrhorn did not find traces of the live Oriental termite in any of the three buildings, though, as we know, the dry-wood termite is in certain parts of the old Printing House. Mr. Ehrhorn's recommendations were carried out, that is (1) testing the ground for Oriental termites around the three buildings; and (2) repainting with preservative the underpinnings of the Chamberlain House. The ground test was entirely satisfactory.

Also in September, it was found necessary to discard the box-desk stand on which the Visitors' Book had stood for many years in the old Frame House, as the borers had gotten in and it was otherwise in frail condition. At this time, we took occasion to have the collection box straightened and repainted. Some time before, an unsuccessful attempt had been made to force the lock, which left the box considerably disfigured. In its new coat of black paint, it now occupies one corner of the strong bench-stand which was secured to hold the Visitors' Book.

Catches for several windows in the Chamberlain House were replaced in September. As these are the old-fashioned kind, it was necessary to have them made to order.

In January, 1927, the old pepper tree at the rear of the Chamberlain House fell in a wind-storm. This exposed former workings of oriental termites in the tree. No live termites could be found by Mr. Ehrhorn.

On February 10th, the mango tree at the rear of the old Frame House was taken down. It was too near the house and in fruiting season drew the school children with their careless methods of procuring the fruit.

Signboards near the stone wall on King Street, companions to that of the Oldest Frame House, designating the Old Printing House and the Chamberlain House, were erected on February 24th and seem to be a great help to visitors. Another sign, on the door of the Printing House, giving more information, was placed early in March.

In accordance with the decision of the Board of Managers a Post Office Box has been rented beginning with January of this year. Its number is 2596.

SCHOOLS

Maunaolu Seminary. "This school opened last September with a full enrollment, and good work has been done notwithstanding interruptions caused by sickness. The girls have been happy and interested in all phases of the school. They gave a pleasing and profitable program for the W. C. T. U., under the direction of Mrs. Haven. The Home Making Class has done acceptable work in all subjects pertaining to the home. They will be graduated with special diplomas in June, 1928. A class of five will be graduated from the eighth grade in June of this year. All of them expect to go on with their education in private schools."

Kawaiahao Seminary. The Principal says: "I wonder if you know that we have in the high school thirteen girls who are what we call Prize Scholarship girls. These girls come, one each year from each island and from towns where there is no high school. They are chosen by grammar school principals for both scholarship and character and are also girls who are not financially able to go away to high school. Next year we hope to develop our Domestic Science department and teach the girls to do more of the cooking for the school. This will reduce expenses somewhat and give the girls more practical experience in cooking."

Hilo Boarding School. Last year we noted the change in status of this school; that is, the elimination of academic work, continuance of manual training and the utilization of the buildings as a boarding home for school boys or young men in business. This arrangement has been operating for two school-years. Mr. Levi C. Lyman assumed the responsibility and direct supervision the first year, and Rev. G. Shannon Walker became the managing principal the second year, now just closing. The School sustained a great loss in March of this year, when the original dormitory building, erected seventy-one years ago, was burned to the ground.

This building had been moved from its original site and converted into work shops, so it meant a loss of machinery, tools, a printing press and many varieties of valuable wood for the craft shop. The dairy building was also a total loss. The Trustees decided to immediately replace the blacksmith and woodcraft shops.

The Kohala Girls' School has changed its plan of operation during the past year. The change has been necessitated on the one hand by the increasing difficulty of financing a well-equipped and well-manned school; on the other hand by the development of a public school system throughout the island whereby most of the districts provide adequate school facilities for boys and girls.

There has been an evident need, however, for a Christian Home School for girls on the island of Hawaii and an increasing need for training in Christian leadership. The place of the Kohala Girls' School has been carefully considered by the Religious-Education Committee of the Hawaiian Board of Missions and a plan devised whereby girls will be received into the School and given extra curricular training in Sunday School work, clubs and domestic arts. The academic work of the girls is done in the Kohala High School, which at this time offers a full high school course.

This plan avoids duplication of curricular activities and at the same time seeks to develop leadership possibilities along definite Christian lines.

The School is in charge of a principal and a matron, and during the year a total of twenty-one girls has been in attendance. The year's work under the splendid leadership of Miss Gertrude Bird has justified the hopes of those who proposed the plan, and the budget requirements have been a little more than one-half of the minimum requirement for the school as previously operated.

N. C. S.

Punahou School. This School is just ending its eighty-sixth year and has marked this period in the following ways: The sale of thirty-four homesite lots of its Rocky Hill land in January of this year, will provide in part for new asphalt macadam roads and an adequate drainage system for the grounds; the old stone wall on Punahou Street has been moved ten feet into the school grounds, necessitating the transplanting of the larger part of the famous night-blooming cereus hedge; in May occurred a campaign for an endowment fund of $500,000 for five distinct needs of the school; and the entrances from Punahou Street are being widened and made safer for traffic. Through the interest of one of the alumni, Mr. Harold K. L. Castle, a summer camp near Kaneohe, this island, has been secured, for the use of teachers and pupils.

CENTENNIAL OF QUEEN KAAHUMANU'S EVANGELICAL TOUR OF OAHU WITH HIRAM BINGHAM I.

This event was celebrated on Sunday, August 1, 1926, at Kawaiahao Church and six other Hawaiian churches on this island. Special talks were given during the morning at each church, one by a Hawaiian pastor in his own tongue and another by a descendant, or consort of a descendant, of the early missionaries. Speakers of the latter class were Albert F. Judd, Rev. Henry P. Judd, Theodore Richards, James A. Wilder, Mrs. Emma (Lyons) Doyle and Theodore W. Forbes, all "Cousins."

KAWAIAHAO CHURCH

It is good to see the reconstruction of this famous old church nearing completion and the grounds free from debris. The auditorium of the building has been enlarged, the gift of a large $20,000 pipe organ has been made by C. Brewer & Company, and an historic clock installed opposite the pulpit. The clock is one that was given to Kamehameha III in 1826 by James Hunnewell, an officer of the "Thaddeus" in 1819-1820 and later founder of the firm of C. Brewer & Co. in Honolulu. It is expected the church will be ready for occupancy early in June.

"THE STORY OF THE THREE OLD BUILDINGS IN HAWAII"

This is the title of the booklet describing in picture and story the three old Mission buildings on King Street, written by our Secretary Emeritus, Mrs. R. W. Andrews, edited by Miss Ethel Damon and published in November, 1926. In order to introduce it, a number of complimentary copies were sent out. To those who have not had the opportunity of seeing the booklet, we would say that it is a complete little storehouse of information, has been received with appreciation and is filling a much-needed want. On sale at the Secretary's office at fifty cents each, postpaid.

THE ROLL-CALL OF COUSINS

ALEXANDER (W. P.) Mr. and Mrs. Herman Alexander, of Wailuku, Maui, announced the birth of their first child, a son, on July 1st, 1926, the little fellow being the fifth grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Alexander. The baby's first trip to Honolulu was made at Christmas time and on Sunday, December 26th he was christened Duncan John at the morning service of Central Union Church.

Mary Douglas Alexander spent the summer in Honolulu with her parents, participated in various social functions and returned to her studies at Vassar College in September.

Mary C. Alexander took occasion while her sister Agnes was visiting her in Berkeley, to take a run to Honolulu in January of this year. She has now returned to her California home. Agnes was able to rent her pretty Manoa home to good tenants while she was away in Berkeley.

Martha ("Pattie") Waterhouse, having spent a year in Europe, returned to her island home in July, 1926, accompanied by three of her Wellesley girl friends for the summer months. Later Pattie decided to occupy herself clerking in the Savings Department of the Bank of Bishop & Co.

Last September we received an interesting pamphlet entitled "Memories of Charles Henry Dickey," written by himself and published in April, 1926. We appreciate his wish that the Cousins' Society should have a copy. As we go to press the Dickey clan are wending their way toward Piedmont, Calif. for the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Cousins Charles Henry and Ann Elizabeth (Alexander) Dickey.

Mr. C. William Dickey, our able president during the past year, was elected last October to the presidency of the Honolulu Association of Architects. He is one of the leading men in his profession in Honolulu and is kept very busy.

William Dickey Merrill, third son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Merrill, of Piedmont, Calif., spent the summer of 1926 in Honolulu with his cousins and his aunt, Mrs. Belle (Dickey) Dole. This was William's first return to the Islands since his family moved to California in 1912. He is attending the University of California.

Mr. James D. Dole, of pineapple fame, was elected last year to succeed Mr. Sanford Ballard Dole as a trustee of Punahou School. He is a second cousin of Sanford B. Dole. "Jim" as he is called, completed in December his twenty-fifth year as the guiding hand of the Hawaiian Pineapple Co. and at Christmas was presented by the 2400 employees of the company with a gold watch and platinum chain.

Announcement was made last fall of the publication of "The Helen Alexander Cook Book," a collection of 250 unusual recipes. "Nellie" Alexander was formerly in charge of the Laniakea lunch rooms in Honolulu, but for several years has been the owner and hostess of the Artists' and Writers' Colony at Westport, Conn., where her mother lives with her. The cook book has been on sale at the store of the Honolulu Paper Co.

ANDREWS (L.) Our Mrs. R. W. Andrews has furnished us with the following items: "Mrs. Maggie (Hardy) Dean has her home in Berkeley, Calif. Walter Hardy owns a home at Keanae, Maui. William L. Hardy has an office at the corner of King and Richards Streets and at present makes his home with his aunt, Mrs. R. W. Andrews, at 707 Wyllie Street.

"Mrs. R. W. Andrews continues to spend two afternoons each week at the Old Mission Home, where she keeps in touch with the family life and enjoys the developments and improvements of the Society. Carl B. Andrews expects to spend his Sabbatical year from the University on the mainland. He and his wife, Laura Ann, will sail June 8th for California where they will spend a few weeks, and then go by way of Panama and the Atlantic to Boston.

"Mrs. William Andrews, to escape the rigors of another winter in New York City, came west to Los Angeles, and here only a few blocks from her son Lorrin Andrews, she and her daughter Ethel have a little bungalow where they enjoyed the bright California sunshine till the unusual February storms made them realize that Paradise had not yet been reached. The New York members of the family greatly enjoyed a short visit from their cousins Lorrin A. and Robert S. Thurston last fall. The Burchers, Evelyn's family, have bought the beautiful home they occupied at Scarsdale, a suburb of New York City. Prof. B. E. Fernow and family are anticipating a summer vacation in Germany.

"Mrs. Mary E. Nott, with her daughter Mary, have been for a time at Cloyne Court, a family boarding place near the University campus, Berkeley, Calif., and here on April 10th she had a family gathering of all her California children. Her daughter Sarah and husband, Mr. George Moore, of Long Beach were there and while Mr. Moore went on to Sacramento to lead the orchestra for a Teachers' Convention, Sarah helped to prepare her mother for a flitting to Long Beach, there to make her home under this daughter's own "vine and fig tree." The youngest son of Cousin Mary Ellen Nott, Lorrin Andrews Nott, with his wife and daughter Edith, arrived in Honolulu on April 19th to spend three weeks, and they answered for the first time to the Andrews name at the Cousins' Roll-Call on April 23rd."

ANDREWS (S. L.) Mrs. Winnifred (Andrews) Paulus wrote from Washington, D. C., on February 10, 1927, "Mr. Paulus and I have come here for the winter so that he may teach and do some studying in the Catholic University."

ARMSTRONG, R. Mrs. Ruth (Beckwith) Bullock and family passed through Honolulu on their return to China last August. They were just in time to be kept out of their mission station at Wuchang by the forty-day siege of that city. Much damage was done to their home, as to the other College buildings, by shot and shell. They finally reached their destination and settled the three older children in a boarding school some distance away, keeping only four-year old Donald with them. This spring the Bullocks were compelled to leave Hankow and flee for safety, as has been the case with practically all the missionaries in China. Under date of April 5th, they were being cared for at the French Concession, in Shanghai, thankful to be safe and comfortably housed with other refugees.

Mrs. Millie (Beckwith) Hair became a grandmother on May 4th of last year, and found herself very busy in the home of her daughter Dorothy (Hair) Thomas, at Wailuku, Maui. The small son was named Donald Beckwith Thomas. Margaret Hair has been at home with her mother this year, teaching at Hamakuapoko grade school. Her brother, Edward ("Ted"), on the same Island, taught agriculture and other branches at the Puunene School for several months, then accepted a position on the Puunene Plantation. Doris, the youngest daughter in the family, will graduate from the domestic science course at the University of Hawaii in June and plans to take a course in diatetics at the University of California Hospital in San Francisco.

Philip L. Weaver sent his greetings to the annual meeting of the Society from the Queen's Hospital where he had been laid up for several weeks. His wife represented him at the roll-call.

The birth of Robert Weaver Maclay, in January of this year, made Mr. and Mrs. Philip Weaver grandparents for the second time. Mrs. Maclay wrote early in April: "Little Ethelwyn, 17 months, and brother are fine and anxious to go to dear old Hawaii to become real kamaainas. I'm sending a dollar for myself and each of the children. My address is changed to c/o U. S. Forest Service, Olympia, Wash."

BAILEY (E.) Mrs. Jessie (Cameron) Bailey and her daughter, Caroline of Los Gatos, Calif. gave the use of their garden last fall for a "Missionary Tea" and asked from us the words and music of "Melton Mowbray," the hymn sung by Asa Thurston and Hiram Bingham from the rigging of the "Thaddeus" as the pioneer missionary band approached the island of Hawaii. "Cousin" Caroline wrote, "The meeting was a happy and successful one. People are always interested in Hawaii and over fifty were here that day. Extracts from Prof. Alexander's schoolboy journal, and a copy of one of Grandmother Bailey's letters written in 1849, were read, as well as parts of the Charge to the members of the Mission. In spite of its acrobatic score and the absence of accompaniment, "Melton Mowbray" sounded inspiring, sung off behind an arbor by two of our choir. We all sang the "Missionary Hymn" together, after I'd sung the verse in Hawaiian. Tiny tastes of poi and paiai with dried fish were served on Grandmother's Wailuku dishes and ginger leaves from a plant in the old Mission garden. Pineapple was manuwahied by "Cousin" Wallace Alexander, who learned by chance of the meeting planned. My work in the Teachers' College library in San Jose continues to be very interesting. Commuting, while it takes time, is rather restful, with home always at the end of the day."

BALDWIN, D. Mr. and Mrs. Erdman D. Baldwin were made happy last summer by a visit from their daughter, Mrs. Jessie (Baldwin) Hill, who has been living on the mainland for several years. Mrs. Hill also visited her brother, Dwight V. Baldwin, on Kauai. Her home is now in Norman, Oklahoma, where her husband, Lieutenant William Hardy Hill, is in charge of the Army Training School.

Mrs. Winifred (Baldwin) Weddick left in March on a visit to friends on the mainland, expecting to be gone some months.

William Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Baldwin, finished his course at the Thacher School, California, and spent the summer with his parents on Maui. In the fall, he entered Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts. His sister Frances did not return to the Islands for her vacation, but visited relatives on the mainland. According to announcement, there was a strong attraction for her over there. She will complete her course at Pine Manor in June of this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan B. Murdoch, Claire and Colin were given a hearty welcome last October on their return home after an absence of over two years on the mainland and in Europe. They went right into their own home at Paia, Maui. On April 11th of this year, Mr. Murdoch received the appointment of District Magistrate for the district of Makawao, Maui.

The H. P. Baldwin Branch has added three new names to its genealogy since our last report.

Mrs. H. P. Baldwin left Honolulu April 13 on a visit to her sister, Mrs. C. H. Dickey in Piedmont, California. Mrs. Baldwin was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Harold Rice, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harry A. Baldwin, and her niece, Mary Charlotte Alexander.

In February of this year, the Hawaiian Tuna Club received from Harry A. Baldwin the gift of a valuable 42-foot boat for fishing and cruising, as an encouragement towards deep-sea fishing for sport and recreation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Cameron, of Paia, Maui, welcomed into their home on February 2 a son, whom they named Colin Campbell. Mrs. Cameron was Frances Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Baldwin, of Maui.

Mrs. Frank Webster, who was Polly Baldwin, brought her husband to the Islands last summer on a visit to her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Baldwin. Nancy Virginia Webster came into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Webster last December. The little girl was made a life member of the Cousins' Society by her grandfather Baldwin in January. The Websters live in Brookline, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Baldwin, of Cleveland, Ohio, made a short visit on Maui last fall.

Henry Alexander Baldwin, 2nd, arrived in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Baldwin on December 7, in Honolulu. This is their second son and fifth child. His father has made the new son a member. Mrs. Baldwin has resided during the school year at their Nuuanu Avenue home, on account of the children who are attending school in Honolulu.

BINGHAM (H.) In October, 1926, we received notice of the arrival of a second son in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Crocker, of Kenilworth, Ill., who has been named Donald Wilson Crocker. His father made him a life member.

Mrs. Clara L. Sutherland gave herself a real treat last year, a seven months' trip to the mainland and France. She spent the summer months with her daughter Pearl, Mrs. Edwin H. Ideler, at Salem, Conn., a country home of Cousin Hiram Bingham's. She also visited the Binghams. In September she crossed the Atlantic and visited in the home of her son Charles in Paris, becoming acquainted with his wife and their little son, then but three months old. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sutherland are both artists. He is teaching art in a school for American children in Paris. On her return, Cousin Clara visited relatives in Minneapolis and Chicago, but was glad to escape the cold weather and reach Honolulu in time for Thanksgiving. Her son Frank is now making his home on this Island, being employed at Ewa Plantation. After settling there, his wife and son followed. Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Sutherland, with their niece, May Arledge, left on April 23 for a six months' visit on the mainland. Mr. and Mrs. Edgecomb and two little daughters spent the winter months in California for a change of air.

Hiram Bingham III was re-elected last November by the State of Connecticut to the Republican seat in Congress. On March 19 of this year, Senator and Mrs. Bingham passed through Honolulu en route to China, Japan and the Philippines. They were given a royal welcome in Honolulu, the band and a special committee meeting the steamer off the harbor. As the Territorial Legislature was convening just then, Cousin Hiram was asked to address a joint session of both houses during the morning. This he did after a lei of flowers had been placed around his neck. Looking into the faces of many of his boyhood friends, he greeted them with "aloha nui loa a pau," and then gave reminiscences of the days when he was a boy here, which proved intensely interesting to those who heard and also to the many who had to content themselves with reading the account later in the press. We are looking forward to seeing more of the Binghams on their return in July, when they expect to spend ten days in the Islands.

Woodbridge Bingham is in the Chinese Language School at Peking, while Hiram 4th, or "Harry," is a teacher at the Indian Mountain School, Lakeville, Conn. Brewster, the fifth son, was in Honolulu two days while the Floating University ship "Ryndam" was in port, and took pains to look up his Bingham relatives and some of his father's old friends.

BISHOP (A.) John S. Bishop wrote on November 28, 1926, to Mrs. Andrews: "Mrs. Bishop and I wish to thank you for the little pamphlet about 'The Three Old Buildings.' I have no personal recollections of them except of the old Mission House, which was occupied at one time, I believe, by Rev. Luther Halsey Gulick when he was agent for the Board; when one summer during General Meeting, as a boy, I played with Sidney and Luther Gulick in the yard behind the house. I, too, have walked straight across the plains to Punahou from King Street, though we had to start somewhat farther out to make the cut. Also, more than once, I have in the evening cut straight across back of Punchbowl to the Punahou upper gate. Those days and times seem long ago now. And yet I don't see that we boys and girls of those days were different from those of today, except in our surroundings. Our young people move a lot faster than we could at their age. But so do we old folks move faster than our parents. We ought to."

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. I. Dalton and Louise send their aloha from Seattle, but have no news to report.

BOND (E.) We enjoyed so much Cousin Edith (Bond) Howard's letter of June, 1926, that we want to share it with the rest of you: "Perhaps you will remember that I went to Punahou at the early age of nine, and roomed first with Esther Lyman, who took excellent care of me, being a 'big girl,' while I was the school infant. By the time my trunk arrived when I first came from Kohala, I had lost the key, and Frank Barwick, who was called on to supply the deficiency, finally found a key to fit, raised the lid and disclosed a row of dolls lying on the top tray. Later 'Mama' Glass, the matron, and some of the big girls, including Esther, May Baldwin and Lily Hapai, I imagine, made me a doll's house from boxes provided by Frank Barwick and nailed together in his spare moments. Think of going to boarding school at that tender age! You can't imagine what an interesting time I've had all day with the Report. I've been entertained and saddened by turns and I confess greatly puzzled at times, for when it comes to tracing down successive generations of Lymans, Baldwins, Cookes, Alexanders and Judds, I find myself finally lost in a maze, with my head whirling. Within a week, however, I expect to run down to Westport to spend a day or two with Nell Alexander, and I shall take my little book with me and get some help on some of the later generations. By the way, Nell is going to have as guests at the same time Belle Walker Klebahn, Rita Schmidt Paris, and Mrs. Alexander is there, too, of course, so it will be quite a Hawaiian occasion.

"We live here in Farmington, but it is a purely residential village, and there is a daily exodus of all husbands to do business in Hartford. Last summer Ethel Damon and Mabel Wilcox made us a little visit and the fall before that Alice Jones Lewis was here. Sophie and George Cooke have looked us up once or twice on their eastern trips and once Marion Dillingham Erdman, so altogether I feel I have not been entirely cut off from Hawaii. But I grow more eager each year to come back for a visit and before very long I hope I may, bringing my husband and daughters, I trust. Aloha to any 'Cousins' you may meet who would be likely to remember me. It is eighteen years since I was in Hawaii, time for many to forget, I know."

Mrs. Ellen (Bicknell) O'Brien spent the summer in California, and on returning was accompanied by her son Torlogh, who is attending Punahou this year.

In September Mrs. Annie (Bicknell) Storey took her two daughters, Marion and Alice, to San Diego, Calif. The change of outdoor life at Solana Beach is proving of great benefit to the girls. Marion has entered Oceanside High School.

Evincing her interest in educational matters, Miss Caroline S. Bond has donated to the Territory of Hawaii a piece of land at Kohala, Hawaii, for a public library, with the understanding that a library building was to be constructed on it within two years.

The Misses Caroline and Julia and Dr. B. D. Bond have added more things of interest to our museum, including the original old maneles (two), in which Mother Bond and the children were carried over the rough roads and mountainous passes of the Kohala district in the early days. Miss Julia says she remembers riding in the child's manele before she was eight years old. Dr. Bond's little trunk covered with goat's hair, in which he carried "all his world possessions" when he came to school at Punahou in 1865, we also have. The elder Bonds planned their spring visit to this Island to include our annual meeting and brought up the roll-call response to ten.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Bond welcomed little Kenneth Lyman into their home on September 4. This gives Dr. and Mrs. B. D. Bond five grandsons, but not one granddaughter. The little boy was made a member of the Cousins' Society by his great aunt, Miss Caroline Bond.

CASTLE (S. N.) Mr. William R. Castle and his daughter Beatrice spent about three months on the mainland last fall, leaving here in September and returning in December. He made the journey to Washington, D. C., in easy stages, and had the great pleasure while visiting his son, W. R. Castle, Jr., of greeting his one-year-old great-grandson, Alan Francis Winslow, Jr., who crossed the Atlantic with his mother for this purpose.

In February of this year William R. Castle, Jr., was promoted to the office of Assistant Secretary of State in charge of European affairs at Washington, D. C. He has served in the State Department since 1919 and this action came as "a candid recognition of his ability and training as a diplomat."

Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Westervelt put themselves "on the map" during seven months of 1926. Leaving Honolulu the last of April, their first mainland stop was at Oberlin to see their son Andrew, who later accompanied his parents to Europe. While at Oberlin, Mr. Westervelt had the degree of D.D. conferred on him. From London the Westervelts made the trip to Paris by air express in two and a half hours. Mr. Westervelt was a delegate to the Y. M. C. A. World Conference at Helsingfors, Finland, and they visited also in Norway and Sweden; then made stops in Germany, Switzerland, Austria and Greece. They did not get into Armenia, though, as anyone knowing Mrs. Westervelt would expect, they made a point of gaining much information regarding Near East Relief work. November 24 saw them back in their Waikiki home. The series of lectures which Mr. Westervelt had expected to give after their return had to be postponed on account of his poor health.

Virginia Castle, elder daughter of Harold H. K. Castle, won a three-eighths-mile horse race and a prize of $75 at the Territorial Fair last September. Her father is the owner of a ranch on this Island, where she has learned the art of horsemanship.

George P. Castle has been indefatigable in his efforts for the restoration of Kawaiahao Church throughout the entire year, acting as Chairman of the Restoration Committee.

Prof. and Mrs. Alfred M. Tozzer and daughter Joan arrived on February 22 from their home in Cambridge, Mass., for a three months' visit with Mrs. Tozzer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Castle. One of the family is missing this year, and we extend our sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Tozzer in the loss of their elder daughter, Anne.

Mrs. Henry Castle met her daughter Elinor and son-in-law John Nef, in New York, upon their return from a long stay in Europe. Mr. Nef made an exhaustive study of the history of English coal, in preparation for his Ph. D. degree, for which he is studying at the Robert Brookings School of Economics in Washington, D. C. Mr. Nef expects to receive his degree next September. Mrs. Castle has changed her residence to 1414 Benton Way, Los Angeles, where she is now living with her sister, Miss Florence Wing. She is much interested in social and philanthropic work.

The Northrup Castles are enjoying their home on Pacific Heights. Mrs. Castle's sister Florence and her aunt, Miss Nettie Haviland, are making an extended visit here. The latter is well known and loved in Honolulu, as she visited here before when her sister, Mrs. Uldrick Thompson, was living at Kamehameha School. This is Miss Florence Haviland's first visit to Hawaii.

CHAMBERLAIN (D.) We were delighted in February of this year to come into contact with another branch of the Daniel Chamberlain family, that of George W. Chamberlain, of Worcester, Mass., a grandson of Daniel Chamberlain, of the Pioneer Company. This was through the receipt from him of a package of manuscripts, containing the journal kept by Daniel Chamberlain on the "Thaddeus," 1819-1820; a letter of Nathan Chamberlain's to his mother while absent on Kauai in 1821; and the journals of Nathan and Mary Chamberlain on the return voyage to the States in 1823.

In a letter to the Secretary under date of March 13, 1927, Mr. George W. Chamberlain tells of the death, in February of this year, of their daughter, Harriet Louise, the only remaining of their three children, a librarian of great ability and promise. Mr. Chamberlain also explained that the title of "Captain" so often applied to Daniel Chamberlain in the early days of the Mission here was earned by him in the Revolutionary War of 1812. We were happy to receive the names of two other descendants of Daniel Chamberlain, whom we had not known of, and are hoping to welcome all of them into the membership of "Cousins."

CHAMBERLAIN (L.) Early in July, 1926, Ingham C. Baker, of Cambridge, Mass., arrived in Honolulu en route to Maui to claim as his bride Martha O. Aiken, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Worth O. Aiken, who have long been residents of that island. On July 16, at five o'clock, friends and relatives gathered at the Makawao Union Church to witness the ceremony. Rev. W. E. Rowan was the officiating minister. The bride entered the church on her father's arm, her only attendant being her cousin, Mrs. Hollis Hardy. The groom was attended by his brother, Fred Baker, while Hollis Hardy, of Wailuku, and Orlando Lyman, of Hilo, served as ushers. Martha made a charming bride in her gown of white satin taffeta, the arrangement of her veil giving her a fairylike appearance. The duchess lace on the veil had been used by her mother-in-law at her own wedding. The bridal bouquet was of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The decorations in the church were arranged in pastel effects. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the parlors of the church. After a short honeymoon spent on Maui and Hawaii, the couple left for their future home in Springfield, Mass., where Mr. Baker is connected with the G. and C. Merriam Co., publishers.

Shortly before the annual meeting word was received of the birth of Walton Aiken Baker, in Springfield, Mass. This confers the title of grandparents on Mr. and Mrs. Worth O. Aiken.

On the thirty-first of August, 1926, Mr. Worth O. Aiken severed his connection with the Pauwela Pineapple Co., of Maui, at which time the controlling interest of the company passed into the hands of Libby, McNeill & Libby. He left a well-equipped cannery and many acres of growing pineapples to testify to his able management of the plantation.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram S. Aiken left the Islands in July, 1926, to make their home on the mainland, going first to Los Angeles, Calif. There Mrs. Aiken entered an advance course in normal work at the southern branch of the University of California.

Mrs. Helen C. Chamberlain spent the year 1926 with her daughter, Mrs. W. O. Aiken, on Maui, and had the pleasure of attending the wedding of her granddaughter, Martha Aiken Baker. Mrs. Chamberlain returned to the mainland in January of this year, visiting friends and relatives in California en route to the home of her son in Mt. Vernon, Ore.

Mrs. Helen (Chamberlain) Ives continues to make her home with her son Charles in California. At present they are in Los Angeles. On May 10, 1926, a new grandson came to Mrs. Ives, in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sumner, of Rockford, Ill. The little boy's first name is that of his great-grandfather, Warren.

Rev. and Mrs. Horace W. Chamberlain are back at their Aloha Farm, in Hastings, Mich., as the church at Roscommon, Mich., which Mr. Chamberlain served for several years was lost by fire last summer. Feeling that the task of rebuilding in that difficult parish was more than he should attempt, he resigned in favor of a younger man.

We inadvertently omitted to mention last year the appointment of Mrs. William W. Chamberlain in 1925 on the Board of Trustees of Lunalilo Home for Aged Hawaiians. This appointment was made to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Miss Mary Parker.

Wm. W. Chamberlain's family is in two places this school year. Plans were made for his son and daughter, Warren and Clio, to take courses at the Armstrong College of Business Administration in Berkeley, Calif., instead of sending Clio to Beloit, Wis. Warren is taking a general business course and Clio a secretarial course and both are doing good work. Mrs. Chamberlain is keeping house for them. This leaves Mr. Chamberlain and Allethea here, Allethea boarding at Punahou and spending the week-ends and holidays at home.

CLARK (E. W.) H. Ashford R. Austin dropped the title "assistant" early this year when he was appointed City and County Engineer for this island. Since assuming charge of this department of the city government, he has given special attention to the problem of conservation of water in Honolulu and has had plugged up a number of leaky artesian wells as a means to this end.

Miss Helen Severance, after spending a year in southern California, joined a party of old Hilo friends, Mrs. Kate (Wetmore) Deacon and the Misses Deyo, and started on a tour of Europe, the Holy Land and Egypt, leaving New York December 1. They spent Christmas Day in Bethlehem. Under date of April 7, she wrote from Florence, Italy: "I expect to be in Europe until the fall of this year and then return to Hawaii. My address remains the same (Hilo), but mail will be forwarded. I am enclosing the usual check towards expenses of the Mission Children's Society."

A. B. Clark ("Bert") became traveling companion to one of our city specialists, a neighbor, and together they toured European countries for several months last year. Bert especially enjoyed the cities of Budapest and Nuremburg.

Capt. and Mrs. Paul S. Roper, with their five-year-old daughter, Dorothy Caroline, are stationed here for the next three years. Mrs. Roper is a daughter of Mrs. Caroline (Clark) Balding, and the family are living on Burbank Road, Nuuanu. Captain Roper's duties are at Fort Shafter. Mrs. Leo Harkins, the other daughter of Mrs. Balding, is chairman of the Nutrition Committee of the Junior League, which conducts nutrition classes at each of the kindergartens throughout Honolulu every week.

COOKE (A. S.) Mrs. Maud (Baldwin) Cooke's family was increased by a son-in-law, a daughter-in-law and a grandson within one month of 1926. Mrs. Cooke has made them all life members of our Society.

Emily Montague Cooke, choosing her birthday as her wedding day, was united in marriage to Loyall Allen Osborne, Jr., on June 19, at five o'clock. The ceremony was performed at her mother's home, with Rev. Philip A. Swartz officiating, the broad lanai being filled with relatives and close friends. The wedding music was furnished by the George Cooke family orchestra and as the strains of the familiar march sounded, the guests moved nearer to the doors to catch a glimpse of the bridal party entering the drawing room through an aisle roped off by leis of pink roses, forget-me-nots, honeysuckle and ferns. The leis were held by four dainty little girls dressed in pink, one of whom, Elise ("Babbie") Cooke, was a niece of the bride. Dressed in white chiffon over satin, with a long train and beautiful Brussels lace veil, carrying a bouquet of white orchids, Emily was a very happy looking bride. She was attended by Miss Hilda von Holt, dressed in blue, and was given in marriage by her elder brother, J. Platt Cooke. The groom had as his best man Henry B. Cooke, another brother of the bride. After the ceremony the guests were invited to the terraced lawn, where refreshmnts were served amidst the beauties of the garden, in the soft light of the waning day. Four days later Mr. and Mrs. Osborne sailed for the mainland. They are making their home in Bronxville, N. Y.

The marriage of Douglas A. Cooke to Miss Charlotte McLean on July 10 was an outdoor evening ceremony, in the presence of relatives and close friends, at the home of the bride's parents, Diamond Head. With Rev. Philip A. Swartz reading the service, the bridal party stood beneath an arch of ferns, relieved by cascades of white flowers at either side. The bride wore a gown of white satin, with long train and the same veil that was used by Mrs. Osborne a few weeks before. The two bridesmaids were Miss Dora Cooke and Miss Mary Douglas Alexander, the former dressed in rose and the latter in turquoise blue taffeta. Henry Cooke acted as best man for his brother. The following week the couple started on their wedding tour through Canada, New York and New England to their objective, Leipzig University, Germany. There Douglas is taking a course in agriculture to secure his doctor's degree, while his wife is pursuing her musical studies at the same place.

Little Joseph Platt Cooke VI came into the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Platt Cooke on July 18 to carry on the family name.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Atherton are building a new home in Manoa, on the site of their former home. As a protection against invasion by termites, the first floor is entirely of concrete and raised about five feet from the ground. "Charlie" took a much needed vacation early this year, following an illness of some weeks, going through the Panama Canal and up the Atlantic coast. He was accompanied to California by his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Guard, and also by his family physician. He is expected back in May.

Mr. Theodore Richards, for twenty-five years the treasurer of the Hawaiian Board of Missions, resigned that position in November of 1926, feeling he had served his time in that capacity and wishing to take part in other Christian activities. He was prevailed upon, however, not to relinquish his connection with the Board, though he has been relieved of the treasurership.

Mr. and Mrs. Atherton Richards have been welcomed back as residents of Honolulu. Atherton holds the position of treasurer of the firm of Castle & Cooke, Ltd. He has distinguished himself as an expert tennis player. Herbert M. Richards, after graduating from Wesleyan University a year ago, returned to the Islands and has since been filling an outdoor position at Ewa Plantation, this island.

The Frank C. Atherton family was another group of islanders to make the Alaska trip last summer (1926). Mr. and Mrs. Atherton, Ballard and Alexander were joined by Marjory in California, she having completed her freshman year at Vassar College, and the family as a whole toured the Alaska country, then returned to spend the remainder of the summer in Honolulu.

Happy in the realization of her dreams, the fulfillment of her hopes, Mrs. Charles M. Cooke, Sr., welcomed on Friday, April 8, her friends and the populace in general to the Honolulu Academy of Arts, which was thrown open for the first time that afternoon. Featuring Hawaii in architecture, in the use of Molokai sandstone for flagging, in the planting of typical trees and shrubs, it was only natural that Rev. Stephen L. Desha should be chosen to ask God's blessing, in Hawaiian, on this gift to Hawaii Nei from one of Hawaii's daughters. Open to all nationalities, the purpose of the academy, in brief, is that all peoples living here may freely share the use of the building, that their intellects may be stimulated and broadened by learning of the arts of the other, and a foundation laid for a higher culture though the medium of art and beauty.

C. Montague Cooke thinks it is just great to be a grandpa. His little granddaughter's name is Nancy Wrenn and she was born on September 16, 1926. About three weeks later Mr. and Mrs. Cooke left to attend the third Pan-Pacific Science Congress at Tokyo, Japan, Mr. Cooke representing the Bishop Museum.

The addition of a new son-in-law and the exchange of old business quarters for a beautiful new building are the most important happenings in the Clarence H. Cooke family. Martha Love Cooke and Alva Edgar Steadman were united in marriage on May 15, 1926, from the home of Mrs. C. M. Cooke, Sr., the bride's grandmother, Makiki Heights, where Rev. John P. Erdman read the service at sunset on the terraced lawn in the presence of relatives and intimate friends only. The bride was gowned in white taffeta, trimmed in old lace, and wore the same veil which her two sisters had used. She was attended by six little girls, five of whom were her cousins, dressed in fluffy gowns of green chiffon. An informal reception and wedding supper followed. A few days later the couple left on a four months' trip to Europe. The groom is acting as second district magistrate of Honolulu. They are living at Luakaha, upper Nuuanu Valley.

On March 28 of this year Clarence H. Cooke, President of the Bank of Hawaii, extended greetings to and received the congratulations of the public on the completion and occupancy of this bank's new building, corner of King and Bishop Streets. He has been connected with the bank in some capacity since its formation, almost thirty years ago.

Harrison Cooke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Cooke, was one of the students on the floating university ship "Ryndam," which made the world tour last year, and touched at Honolulu in October.

George P. Cooke served as a Representative from the Island of Molokai in the 1927 Legislature. Mrs. Sophie (Judd) Cooke was responsible for the production of the Nativity play, so beautifully given last Christmas at Central Union Church. Dora, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cooke, returned from her first year at Vassar College and spent the summer vacation at home, as did others of the Island girls at Vassar. Music has been a dominating feature in the life of the George Cooke family this past year. Paul, aged seventeen, has played the viola and Judd, sixteen, the 'cello in the Honolulu Symphony Orchestra, in which their mother plays second violin. The concerts have been of the highest class. Thomas plays the flute, Stephen the piano, while Phoebe has begun the study of the violin as well as the piano. Their father and oldest sister, Dora, are equally musical.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cooke have made their youngest daughter, Patricia, a life member of the Cousins' Society.

Mrs. Alice Cooke Spalding entertained at her home on Makiki Heights for "the twins," Charles Montague Cooke, Jr., and Albert Francis Judd, Jr., on December 20, 1926, their mutual birthday. The two mothers and all the brothers and sisters were also invited.

Theodore A. Cooke, connected with the Bank of Hawaii, has been a faithful attendant at the Board of Managers meetings of our Society and was particularly helpful in arrangements for the annual meeting.

All of the C. M. Cooke branch of the family enjoy their joint seaside home at Kaneohe, Oahu, where they enter friendly races with boats which are named the "Thaddeus," etc., after the early missionary packets to these islands.

CONDE (D. T.) Mrs. Lucy (Conde) King, of Portland, Ore., sent news of the death of her brother, Henry Toll Conde, and other family data which we needed for our genealogical book. She has also made her daughter, Mrs. Melicent (King) Hall, a life member. We are very glad to welcome Mrs. Hall as a Cousin. She is a granddaughter of Rev. and Mrs. Daniel T. Conde, who labored for twenty years on the Island of Maui, first at Hana and later at Wailuku, where Mrs. Conde died. Mrs. Hall is living in Manila with her husband, who is secretary of the Y. M. C. A. there. We hope Mr. and Mrs. Hall will look us up when they pass through Honolulu.

Miss Bertha Conde, who is a Y. W. C. A. secretary, wrote to Agnes Judd from New York in December, 1926: "I am just on the eve of sailing for the Near East to do some work there for our World's Committee for four months in Greece, Egypt, Syria and Palestine. I shall be back here again in May. I am working as usual, doing some Y. W. C. A. religious work and much lecturing in various cities and writing of books. I have published four, 'The Business of Being a Friend,' 'The Human Element in the Making of a Christian,' 'A Way to Peace, Health and Power,' and my last, 'Spiritual Adventuring,' written as a text book for the southern churches, by request. I have, as you know, two sisters, Edith Conde, of Los Angeles, Calif., who is secretary for Immanuel Presbyterian Church, and Agnes E. Conde, who is living in New York City. She is companion to a friend who is blind. Some day I hope to come to Honolulu again. It will be joyous when I can. I never forget the hospitality and loving kindness of all the 'Cousins.' ''

Miss Conde's books are on sale at the Hawaiian Board Book Rooms. The one mentioned as her third, ''A Way to Peace, Health and Power,'' has been used lately as text book for a study class at Central Union Church Bible School. We can recommend it as a very helpful, soul-strengthening book.

DAMON (S. C.) We are recording elsewhere in this issue the death of Mrs. Samuel M. Damon's son, Henry, which occurred in December of last year.

Ethel M. Damon continues her valuable research work for the preservation in printed form of the early Hawaiian mission history of families. This is proving an extremely valuable addition to the story of the mission work in these Islands. She has also continued her assistance on the Committee of Restoration of Kawaiahao Church.

Mrs. Frank W. Damon's list of grandchildren has been increased during the past year by Luther Damon Gadd in the home of her daughter Vera, and Cyril Francis, Jr., in the home of her son Cyril. When Mr. and Mrs. Cyril F. Damon returned on November 2 last from a trip to the mainland, they were accompanied by Mrs. Damon's mother, Mrs. Richard Colgate, who spent the winter months here. Daphne Damon has been visiting her sister, Vera (Damon) Gadd, in New York City, but is expected shortly with her sister and little Luther to spend the summer with their mother.

DIBBLE (S.) Mrs. Grace P. Haven spent the summer of 1926 in Honolulu, doing some work at the summer school and enjoying visits with her friends. In August she invited all Maunaolu Seminary students in Honolulu to a basket picnic in honor of Miss E. L. Heusner, a former principal of Maunaolu. Mrs. Clara P. Cowperthwaite's address has been changed.

DIMOND (H.) Edwin Hall Dimond, the last member of the original family of that name here, passed away after a brief illness, on May 31 last, during the absence from the islands of his nephew, Albert Waterhouse.

Mrs. Eleanor (Waterhouse) Wood writes of her European trip of a year ago: "Yes, I did have a wonderful trip, one that lives in my memory and will continue to do so. I shall never know whether I was as young as Julia (Waterhouse, her niece) or whether she was as old as I was, for we 'played' together day by day in such perfect harmony." She adds: "You see that I have adopted a typewriter, too. Be very thankful, for my penmanship is not as clear as it was in the Punahou days with Mrs. Merritt as a guide."

Mr. and Mrs. H. Allyn Wood welcomed their second daughter early this year. She has been named for her great-grandmother, Julia Dimond, on whose birthday, February 10, she was born. Her grandfather has seen to it that her name is placed on our membership list.

After an absence of twenty-four years, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Dimond (son of Gen. Wm. H. Dimond) spent a week in Honolulu last September on the first lap of a trip around the world, starting from their home in San Francisco. A reunion was held of the Waterhouse clan and old family friends, General Dimond's first wife having been a daughter of John Thomas Waterhouse, of early days here. Mr. Dimond is a partner of the firm of Williams, Dimond & Co., of San Francisco, and is taking a well-earned vacation after many years of steady application to business.

DOLE (D.) We miss Cousin Sanford Ballard Dole. He was always a regular attendant at our annual meetings and it is hard to realize that we shall not see his tall, erect figure amongst us again. It was soon after attending the annual meeting of April, 1926, that he failed noticeably in strength. His niece, Clara M. Dole, who had visited here the year before, returned in May to be with her uncle during his last weeks, and stayed on until September 11. On September 25 the Dole homestead on Emma Street, so well known for its beautiful surroundings and spirit of hospitality, was sold to a Chinese society for use as a school. It had been the home of the Doles for fifty-five years.

Lieut. and Mrs. Richard W. Dole welcomed their first child, a son, on October 17, naming him for his father. This event made Walter S. Dole a grandfather for the second time.

On September 30 last we received a short call from Emmet R. Jones, husband of Marion (Dole) Jones. He was passing through Honolulu on the last lap of his journey home after a business trip to Sumatra and the Orient, having been away a year and a half. His brother-in-law, Charles Dole, was showing him the sights.

Norman E. Dole, of Burlingame, Calif., is faithful in his installment payments towards memberships for his wife and three children.

DWIGHT (S. G.) Mrs. Maud (Lovejoy) Penfield spent several weeks here during the summer of 1926, visiting her cousins of the Dwight family. She had been on a trip to the Orient with friends. The secretary was sorry to miss her call at the office of the Society early in August.

EMERSON (J. S.) Rev. Oliver P. Emerson wrote to the then Assistant Treasurer, Howard Lyman, from Brookline, Mass., under date of February 20, 1927: "I was glad to receive the Cousins' circular letter and to know that you are serving the Society and representing your family, many of whom have been friends of mine. I think you must be a nephew of Miss Ellen, Mrs. McCluskey and Mr. and Mrs. Levi Lyman. Mrs. Emerson and I would be glad to send our aloha to them. We are well and always enjoy the Cousins' Society reports, though our pleasure is saddened in reading of those whom we cannot meet again. We enclose a small contribution."

Lieut. Philip L. Emerson left Honolulu on November 6, 1926, after a very pleasant stay of one year and ten months, during which he was on "shore duty." He was then ordered to the Philippines. After brief service there on the U.S.S. "Moa" he was transferred to the destroyer "Sicard," one of the four sent in search of the ill-fated "Elkton," now posted as missing. Immediately upon the return of the "Sicard" she was sent to Shanghai, China.

Lieut. Emerson's brother Ralph has sent us the announcement of the birth of his son, John Philip Emerson, at Jackson, Mich., on April 7, 1925.

Oliver H. Emerson spent his summer, 1926, at home in Honolulu, following a very pleasant year at Yale. He returned to New Haven on September 15 and is expected in Honolulu at the end of June for his vacation. After that Oliver will go to the University of California, Berkeley, where he has been offered an assistantship and hopes to take his Ph. D. degree in two years.

FORBES (C.) The family of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Forbes held a reunion in the summer of 1926, the first time in six years that they had all been together. Fred, who graduated from Oberlin College in June, returned with his sister Marion early in July. Ted, after two years of teaching in north China, arrived on July 23, and on that date friends and relatives were asked to call on the young people. Frances, as a member of the graduating class of 1926 at Punahou, took for her theme the life of her great-grandfather, Rev. Cochran Forbes, whose field of labor from 1832 to 1848 was in the Kealakekua district, Kona, Hawaii. Before leaving the islands for her higher education, Frances spent ten days in the Kona district with her aunt, Miss Harriet Forbes, visiting the historic spots of which she had been studying. The last of August the family separated, Ted to take up post-graduate work at Oberlin College, Marion returning for her senior year, and Frances to enter as a freshman at the same college. Fred has been working with the Bank of Bishop & Co. since his return.

GOODRICH (J.) The family of Nancy Goodrich, daughter of Rev. Joseph Goodrich, early missionary at Hilo, Hawaii, has been reported to us in detail by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harvey Lincoln Day, of. Kewanee, Ill.

GREEN (J. S.) We welcome Mrs. Rhoda (Green) Thayer as one of our new life members. During the past year Rhoda and her husband, Wade Warren Thayer, have bought property at Kahala Beach which they share with many. The crippled children at the Shriners' Hospital are taken for an outing to these beautiful grounds once a week, and, of course, the grounds are open to the Boy Scouts, with whom Wade has played and worked for several years.

Miss Laura C. Green has furnished us with needed data of her nieces and nephews on the mainland, making the Green family record in the Big Book much more complete. Cousin Laura has left Lanihuli Drive and moved nearer the head of Manoa Valley and the mountains. Since January of this year she has been very happily situated in a little cottage near Cousins Arthur C. and Mary (Hillebrand) Alexander, also near her old friend, Miss Mary Burbank. Her new address will be found in our directory.

GULICK (P. J.) Mrs. Frances (Gulick) Jewett, widow of Frank F. Jewett, notice of whose death appears in this issue, has for years had a place in educational work through her contribution of eight books on the vital subject of hygiene. Thousands of copies of her books have been introduced into the schools of America, England, India, Africa and Japan. Mrs. Jewett is the oldest daughter of Luther Halsey Gulick, the young man who so enthused his friends in these islands in 1852 that they adopted him as their missionary to the Micronesian group, and in organizing for this purpose started our Society. Mrs. Jewett was born on the island of Ponape during the nine years her parents labored in that mission field. She is now living in Honolulu.

Mrs. Luther Halsey Gulick, of Camp Fire fame, has sent data of her family for our genealogical record. Regarding her two granddaughters, Charlotte and Louise Robinson, she says: "Both children have red hair and are as darling as can be."

Miss Ethel Gulick, daughter of Rev. Sidney L. Gulick, was married in Kyoto, Japan, during the summer of 1926 to Mr. John Barrow. They are both children of missionaries. Mrs. Barrow had been teaching in the Doshisha School since 1924. Mr. Barrow was connected with the China Christian College. On their way to the mainland last summer they spent a day in Honolulu with their Gulick relatives. Mr. Barrow is studying now at the Yale Divinity School.

Dorothy Woodrough spent nine days here with her grandmother, Mrs. Orramel H. Gulick, early in December. Her home has been in Tokyo, Japan, and she was on her way to Los Angeles, Calif., where she is now attending school.

Mrs. John T. Gulick enjoyed a visit last summer from her daughter, Mrs. Louise (Gulick) Whitaker, husband and five children. After a month spent in Honolulu, the Whitakers continued on to California to spend the remainder of their furlough from Christian work in China. In September Mrs. Gulick followed and has spent the intervening months with her daughter and family in California. She is expected back here in July.

HALL (E. O.) Charlotte V. Hall spent some weeks in California during the summer of 1926, visiting in the home of her brother Seymour in Berkeley, Calif.

Cornelia Macintyre is studying at the University of Hawaii and took one of the leading parts in the school play this spring.

Cornelia Hall Jones, oldest child of E. Austin and Helen (Hobron) Jones, has returned to her island home instead of being her grandmother's companion in Berkeley, Calif.

Mrs. Helen (Jones) Farrar won three swimming races at the Punahou tank on December 2, as follows: 100-yard dash for women, 25-yard dash for women, and the balloon race.

Mrs. Catherine (Jones) Richards, who specializes in landscape gardening, planned and supervised the setting out of trees and shrubs in the grounds of the Honolulu Academy of Arts, which opened to the public early in April. The plants are typical of these islands, including the cocoanut, breadfruit, bamboo, banana, lauhala, ti and hibiscus. Mrs. Richards will leave in May for Europe and England to continue her study of gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lewis, Jr., were happy in the return of their son and daughter for the summer vacation last year. Both Marion and Dudley were accompanied by a classmate. One of the entertainments given for them was a Pan-Pacific dancing party, at which the guests were dressed in costumes representing the Pan-Pacific races.

HITCHCOCK (H. R.) Mrs. Cora (Hitchcock) Townsend has completed life membership payments for her two grandsons, David William Townsend, Jr., and John Townsend Goss, and has made her latest grandson, Howard Hitchcock Goss, a paid-up member. She sends her aloha nui and says: "We take a very lively interest in all things Hawaiian, especially in the Cousins' Society and all that it stands for." Mrs. Almeda (Townsend) Goss visited her parents in Manila last year. Under date of August 5,

1926, she wrote the treasurer from there: "Our little son, Howard Hitchcock Goss, landed in our family circle last April 6, out here in the Philippines. We feel that he is quite a priceless addition to our private League of Nations. Peter (George, Jr.) is our American; Peggie, a Londoner; John, a sturdy Swiss, and now we have Howard representing the Orient. As I am Hawaiian born (and proud of it), you see that George has quite a collection. The children and I came out here last January to visit mother and dad and my sabbatical year seems to be up, so we are returning to the States next month and will be 'digging in' in New Haven, Conn. I really don't know our new address, but I imagine the State Y. M. C. A. in New Haven will catch us. This visit to Manila has been a genuine treat. I was delighted to find mother looking so well. Bobbed hair and the gym have done wonders for her. Dad is not quite so spry, but it seems to be from overwork rather than age. Wish I could stop off in Honolulu and get acquainted with the interesting little families, but I am booked on the 'Empress,' northern route, and will have to look forward to a Hawaiian visit some other day."

D. Howard Hitchcock, the artist, after many years of steady application to his profession, sailed for the mainland on March 30. He will visit his daughter Helen at Vassar College, New York, spend some time in Philadelphia, and return on the maiden trip of the new Matson steamer "Malolo." Nine of his paintings of island views have been placed in the social rooms of the "Malolo." Helen spent her summer vacation here.

The release of Mrs. Mary (Castle) Hitchcock in October of last year makes another break in the chain of missionary sons and daughters.

Mrs. Mary (Hitchcock) Snow, in company with Miss Franc Eaton, had the thrilling experience last summer of a trip to Alaska. "When they went north of the Arctic Circle they sat up nearly all night and saw just the very tiniest bit of the sun, which seemed to glide along in its wonderful beauty." They were also impressed with the beautiful wild flowers, everywhere and in such varieties. In January of this year Mrs. Snow left for a trip in the opposite direction, to New Zealand, Australia, Java, etc., taking as companion her niece, Evelyn Schoen. We hope the trip has been of much benefit to Mrs. Snow. At this writing she is in Manila. Harriet Hitchcock has acted as executor of her mother's estate and kept the Hilo home open as usual. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Schoen (Mabel Hitchcock) made a leisurely trip to Europe during the summer and fall of 1926.

Mr. H. Rexford Hitchcock, whose home is on Molokai, attended his mother's funeral in Hilo last October.

HYDE (C. M.) Prof. A. C. Hanford, son-in-law of Henry C. Hyde, of Ware, Mass., has recently been appointed dean of Harvard College. He is a young man for that position and the first one elected who has not graduated from Harvard.

IVES (M.) Miss Mary B. Ives reports her mother as being well. She "does not walk very far, but enjoys frequent automobile rides and her radio so much." Miss Ives asked to have copies of the "Story of the Three Old Buildings" sent to her aunt, Miss Nellie Ives, and her brother Charles. Her aunt says, in acknowledging the booklet: "I remember picking night blooming cereus from the wall in front of the Chamberlain house when I was a little girl. As I remember, it was across the street from where we lived." Miss Nellie observed her eightieth birthday on March 24 of this year. She lives in Oakland, Calif., except for about two months of the summer, which she spends in Paradise, Calif.

JOHNSON (E.) Cousin A. Rudolph Bindt gives us the following items: "Last August we moved from our Kapahulu residence to 632 Magellan Street, adjoining the Dole Park. While I greatly miss the old home, yet the new place has the redeeming feature of allowing me to walk home in the morning after work about 3 a. m. I do not have to wait for the first car. Henry is still at the University of California and expects to graduate in August. Whether he remains on the coast or returns home depends on what opens up for him. Walter is following the sea and is on the Matsonia. He drops in on us every fourth week. The biggest event in our family was the marriage of my second son, Arthur Holden, to Miss Kathryn Morrill on November 26, 1926. The wedding was a home affair and the Rev. Mr. Doty, of Hilo, who is a personal friend of Arthur's, officiated. The young couple are living at 1525B Wilder Avenue. We never had a daughter in the family and therefore Mrs. Bindt and I are more than pleased to have such a nice daughter-in-law. Master Frank is attending the Lincoln School and is doing very well."

JUDD (G. P.) Mrs. Laura (Wilder) Wight returned from her European trip in November last. On April 6 of this year she accompanied her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Hurum, as far as California, where Mrs. Wight plans to remain a year with her oldest son, Wilder. The Hurums have returned to their home at Oslo, Norway, after three years' residence in Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder started on a second South Sea tour on the twelfth of May, 1926, by way of San Francisco. While spending a few weeks in California, Cousin Gerrit visited the grave of Luther Burbank and placed a lei on it. They must be finding much to interest them in the Society and other islands, as they have not returned yet.

Mr. Samuel G. Wilder left on January 12 of this year to join his brother Gerrit in the South Seas. Prior to leaving he made his new little grandson, John Douglas Blyth, a life member of our Society.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wilder left Honolulu on the first of September, 1926, with plans to spend the winter in Europe. The next we heard they were in northern Africa, thirty miles from Tunis, where "Kimo" was doing some painting, living in the castle of an Englishman on the edge of the desert.

Mrs. Catharine (Pratt) Field, with her husband and two small sons, returned in July, 1926, to make their home in the islands. They were warmly welcomed by their family connections and many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Dickson Pratt welcomed their second child, a son, on January 28 of this year. Their home is at Wahiawa, this island.

C. Dudley Pratt is a Boy Scout leader and continues his classes in life saving work. In February of this year he gave a very instructive radio talk on how to save a drowning person, explaining the latest Red Cross and other methods.

Hester Pratt was married to George Harris Richardson on March 25 of this year, at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. B. Pratt. Rev. Henry P. Judd, cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony at four-thirty in the afternoon. The bride's sister, Mrs. Harry Peyton Field, acted as matron of honor, and Mrs. Agnes H. B. Judd, her grandaunt, played the wedding march. The decorations of the home were in green and white. The bride's gown was of blue crepe romaine and she carried a bouquet of orchids, gardenias, pansies and violets. Mrs. Field's gown was of pink and apricot shades. An informal reception followed. The couple are making their home at Wailuku, Maui, where Mr. Richardson is in business.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sherman left shortly before our annual meeting for a six months' trip to Europe.

Little Gretchen came into the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Dickson Nott just two days after Christmas. She is their second child. The Notts enjoyed a visit last summer from Anna Cate's sister, Sallie Adams, of Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Helen (Dickson) Pratt's second son, Hastings Bowen, was married June 23 of last year to Constance Archer Cotter, at Nutley, N. J. He is remembered as a boy of fourteen when he came here in 1920 with his mother ("Mudjie") on her last visit. The second daughter, Julia, and baby, Wilson Judd Pratt, completed this little party of four.

Mrs. Juliet (Judd) Swanzy, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Rosamond (Swanzy) Morgan, spent the summer and fall months on the mainland, with headquarters at Chicago. While in Chicago a second son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, and has been named Richard. Mrs. Swanzy was later joined by her other daughter, Mrs. Nora (Swanzy) Bennett, and husband, and with them made an auto trip to the eastern states. Although the different members of the immediate family did not return together to the islands, they were all back in time for a Christmas celebration at Mrs. Swanzy's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vincent and family have moved from this island to Maui and are settled at Lahainaluna, where Mr. Vincent is in charge of the mechanical department of the high school.

Another grandchild has been added to the list of Charles Hastings Judd. This was a son in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Murray Judd, of Honolulu. Leilehua Judd is taking the kindergarten course in Honolulu.

Mrs. Agnes H. B. Judd spent the summer of 1926 on Molokai with her daughter Sophie (Mrs. George Cooke), while her other daughter, Agnes E. Judd, made a trip to New Zealand and Australia with Miss Abbie H. Newton, principal of the Kamehameha School for Girls.

Bernice Judd, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Judd, met with a serious accident while riding horseback last summer, but miraculously escaped and has made a wonderful recovery. After graduating from Pine Manor, Wellesley, in 1926, Dorothy spent the summer in Europe with friends before returning to Honolulu. She is attending the University of Hawaii.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry P. Judd and sons completed their ten months' stay on the mainland and returned early in July of 1926. Cousin Henry attended the twenty-fifth reunion of his class at Yale, and also took a course at Yale Divinity School.

Allan W. Judd, Jr., oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Judd, of Crockett, Calif., visited his many relatives in Honolulu last summer. He is the oldest grandson in the Judd family, aged nineteen.

Dr. and Mrs. James R. Judd and two children spent six months on the mainland last year, leaving in September and returning late in March. At New Haven, Conn., they occupied the home of Hiram Bingham while the latter was attending Congress. Dr. James spent most of his time studying up along surgical and medical lines in the large eastern cities. They all enjoyed winter sports at Bethel, Me., and visiting with the Gerrit Judd family at Ardmore, Pa.

Rita (Marguerite), born June 26, 1926, at Ardmore, Pa., is the first daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit P. Judd and their third child.

Lawrence M. Judd was elected to the Senate last November from the Island of Oahu for the short term.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Carter and other members of their family enjoy many outings at their cool mountain home on Haleakala, Maui. It is not many miles distant from the Kula Sanitorium, in which Mr. and Mrs. Carter last summer established a women's ward as a memorial to the late Miss Lucy Adams. In February of this year Cousin George and his wife left for a trip to South America. They are expected to return in July.

John Randolph Galt II has just begun his education at the Golden Hours Kindergarten.

KINNEY (H.) In August of last year we heard of the death of Mrs. Charlotte (Kinney) Rice-Madison on June 7 at Petaluma, Calif. Her daughter Dorothy wrote us the news from New York City, also saying: "Will you please tell me what is necessary to become a member? I am sure mother would want someone in the family to be a member, as indeed I would like to be." We hope soon to hear again from this would-be cousin and to welcome her to our circle.

Mrs. Selma S. Kinney and her daughter Maud, who left the Islands over a year ago, after visiting her son Henry in Manchuria, continued to Copenhagen, Denmark, where they are now among many of their old friends. Living conditions there are very different from those in Hawaii. "Prices for everything are very high, taxes are terrible, coal and firewood difficult to get." They are, however, very happy and comfortably situated, having rooms in the top story of the house of a friend with whom they board. The outlook from their windows is of a beautiful park and fine old trees.

LOOMIS (E.) Miss May E. Loomis wrote from her little home in Florida, under date of November 10, 1926, of being laid aside by sickness of a serious nature. She, however, was cheerful and resigned, waiting for her rose and strawberry beds to blossom and bear fruit.

LYMAN (D. B.) Too late to appear in last year's report came announcement of the marriage of Margaret Lyman Greer, eldest daughter of Mrs. Helen (Lyman) Greer, to Burrows Judson Martin, October 16, 1925, at Evanston, Illinois. On August 12th of last year, a little son was born in this family, who was named Dana Greer Martin. Mrs. Martin will be remembered by many as a teacher at Punahou Academy during the year 1921.

Death has entered two branches of the Lyman family this past year. In July last year Mr. and Mrs. James Reid, of Hilo, were called on to part with their eight-year old son, and in January of this year, Frederick Snowden Lyman, one of the "Lyman twins" passed away in Hilo, the town that has been closely associated with the family of that name for eighty-five years.

Francis A. Lyman, who has been in San Francisco for several years, returned to Honolulu last July and is with the Hawaiian Pineapple Company. His wife and Janey followed him later in the year. They are living on Alewa Heights. Howard Lyman, who acted as assistant treasurer of the Cousins' Society this year, is living with his brother Francis. They are the sons of the late Dr. Frank Lyman, Fred's twin brother.

David B. Lyman continues his work as superintendent of the Salvation Army Boys' Home, at Kaimuki, this island. In addition to his other duties, he is Scout Master of Troop 32, and we find it reported that "The Life-Saving Scout Troop of the Salvation Army Boys' Home has performed a greater amount of volunteer service on the island of Oahu than has any other Boys' Unit." During the Territorial Fair held last September, a chorus of the boys from this Home won a prize for the best singing, in competition with every other school on this Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi C. Lyman, of Hilo, have been grandparents since September 4th of a small boy in the home of their daughter Kathryn, at Kohala. Kenneth Lyman Bond made his first visit to his Hilo grandparents at Christmas time, with his mother at the early age of less than four months. Their son, Orlando H. Lyman came back as planned last summer to finish his agricultural work at the University of Hawaii. This spring he is getting practical experience at Pioneer Plantation, Lahaina, Maui, preparatory to the completion of his course in "Sugar Technology, Agriculture."

Early in April we received news of the marriage of Major Albert K. B. Lyman, of the U. S. Engineers, to Miss Gladys G. Gray on March 19th, the ceremony taking place in Washington. "At home after May the first, 3608 S. Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C."

Richard K. Lyman, oldest son of Richard J. Lyman, continues as instructor in agriculture at the public school, Makaweli, Kauai. His sister, Muriel, has taught this year at the Lihue Grammar School, many miles distant, but on the same island.

Major Charles B. Lyman's address is changed to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

LYONS (L.) In October, 1926, the Treasurer received a legacy of $150 left to the Society by the will of Dr. Albert B. Lyons, whose death was recorded in our 1926 report. We deeply appreciate the aloha for our Society which was shown by our Cousin in this way.

PARIS (J. D.) Although we are sorry that Cousin Ella H. Paris was a victim of the "flu" the early part of this year, causing her to make an extended visit in Honolulu, we were glad of the delay and in consequence her presence at our annual gathering and roll-call in April, a thing she has not been able to do for many years. In November of last year, recollections of Miss Paris' father, Rev. John D. Paris, were published in booklet form under the title "Fragments of Real Missionary Life." This book contains the same articles that ran serially in The Friend early in 1926, augmented by family portraits and drawings of old homes and churches.

PARKER (B. W.) On April 28th of 1926, one month after his ninety-second birthday, Rev. Henry H. Parker performed a wedding ceremony at his home on Judd Street. This year, however, he has been in very feeble health since his ninety-third birthday, and is living with his sister, Mrs. Harriet (Parker) Green. One of the new schools erected on this island in 1927 has been named the Benjamin W. Parker School, in memory of Rev. Henry Parker's father who was the first missionary, and probably the first teacher, in the Kaneohe district, this island, "his work as an educator having been of the utmost importance in the development of Oahu's school system."

POGUE (J. F.) Miss Jennie K. Pogue wrote in November of the family reunion with her nieces and nephews at her home in Santa Clara, Calif. on Thanksgiving Day. John, the carpenter, had just spent three weeks building "at the beach." Ruth, the housekeeper, had been nursing. Jennie is teaching in the town school. Frances is taking the training in the San Jose hospital. William, Jr. and his wife live not far away, also Maria (Mrs. Pickett). Charles and his wife although living in San Francisco, get away for week-ends. These are the children of Cousin William F. Pogue, of Huelo, Maui.

RICE (W. H.) Three events in the De La Vergne family have been reported. Mrs. Clara (Kennedy) De La Vergne, widow of Paul F. De La Vergne, was married to George H. Thompson on November 18, 1926. Her daughter Marjorie K. De La Vergne, was also married earlier in the year, February 20, 1926, to Charles A. Bryant, and into the home of the last couple was born Paul Sheridan Bryant on December 9, 1926; all at Los Angeles, Calif.

"Aunt Mary" Rice (Mrs. Wm. Hyde Rice, Sr.) returned to her island home in June of last year, after spending nine months in California, and was given an enthusiastic welcome. While in Berkeley she received a fine radio set, which she learned to operate and great was her joy in the entertainment afforded.

Wm. H. Rice, who for many years has been the manager of the only hotel on the Lihue side of the island of Kauai, has during the past year enlarged and improved the buildings and beautified the grounds. This provides attractive, comfortable and ample accommodations for all who wish to visit the Garden Island. Mr.

and Mrs. Rice themselves live near the hotel and see that nothing is lacking for the comfort of their guests.

Harrison Rice, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Rice, was married September 4, 1926 to Olivia Le Bosquet, of Chicago. The ceremony was held in the Church of the Flowers, Glendale, California and was attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Waterhouse and other relatives of the bride and groom. The Rices are making their home in the Haiku District, Maui, where Harrison is employed in the pineapple department of the Maui Agricultural Co.

Mrs. Juliet (Rice) Goodale and her sister, Edith Rice, have lately returned from a trip to the Orient, after an absence of three months.

In February of this year Arthur H. Rice resigned as vice-president and director of the Pacific Trust Co., of this city and assumed the presidency of a partnership under the name of A. H. Rice & Co., Ltd. to engage in the general brokerage business. His brother, Harold W. Rice, of Maui, is also interested in the new firm and is one of its vice-presidents.

Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Boyden, of Kealia, Kauai, welcomed a son on August 2, 1926 and named him Richard Webster. Mrs. Boyden was Eleanor Mary Scott. A little cousin and playmate for Richard was born in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay A. Faye at Kekaha, Kauai, in February, 1927, named Mary Scott for her grandmother.

RICHARDS (W.) Miss Emily Williston sent us last year family data that was inadvertently omitted from our report, namely the second marriage of Arthur Lyman Williston to Miss Mary de Forest Dinny; also the birth of the third daughter in the family of Mrs. Margaret (Williston) McLaughlin.

Dr. Hubert L. Clark reported last summer the marriage of his son, Dr. William Smith Clark 2nd, on June 26, 1926. He says: "William has now launched out for himself. He received his Ph. D. from Harvard on June 24th. He is the third generation of Clark to graduate from and then, after graduate study elsewhere, to return and teach at Amherst—quite a record! Henceforth address him at Amherst College, Amherst, Massachusetts, where he is to teach English." In January of this year, we were pleased to receive a note from Cousin William himself, enclosing his contribution, giving his street address at Amherst, and sending his "kindest wishes" to the Cousins. We extend our congratulations and good wishes.

Mrs. William B. Long (Harriet Bayley), great granddaughter of Reverend William Richards, has sent us the record of her four children for the Big Book, namely Mary Richards, William Bowditch, Edward Bayley and Phyllis Long. Their home is in Boston.

ROGERS (E. H.) The Misses Sunter made their annual call at the old Mission Houses the latter part of July, leaving a photograph of their uncle, Edmund Hitchcock Rogers, and also a glass pitcher of interesting design, which had been a wedding gift to their mother in 1871.

ROWELL (G. B.) Of the five Rowell sisters, the oldest, Elsie, has been visiting in California, but has now returned to her home at 499 Lincoln Place, Brooklyn, New York. Alice (Rowell) Rowell, with her husband and little daughter Anne, is living at 1055 Miller Street, Berkeley, California.

Dorothy C. Rowell spent over two months in Honolulu last summer, visiting with friends. She called twice at the Old Mission, once bringing in a photographic copy of the miniatures of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Locke, her grand-aunt and uncle, as painted in 1836. We are very glad indeed to have these copies. The miniatures were referred to in our 1925 report. The portrait of Mrs. Locke is the same as in the Missionary Album, but we have never had a picture of Mr. Locke.

The fourth daughter, Olive, has been spending this year at Hollywood, with a friend. The fifth sister, Ruth (Rowell) Sanborn, has been for a number of years a resident of California.

RUGGLES S. Mrs. Frances S. Loomis wrote in December of her visit last summer in the home of her son in New Jersey, and of returning in August to attend the wedding of her granddaughter Helen Haswell to Albert B. Tucker. "This marriage takes the daughters from the Haswell home, leaving the two boys." Mrs. Loomis also wrote of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. G. Peck, of Chicago.

In a letter just received by our Mrs. R. W. Andrews, Mrs. Loomis says, "In February I went with my son Arthur and his wife Veda to visit their daughter Frances Loomis Robison and family in Cairo, Ill. We drove 217 miles in seven hours and I was not unduly tired and thought I did well for my seventy-six years. At that time the Mississippi was behaving well and gave no anxiety to the residents, but the Ohio was causing considerable trouble. Later my granddaughter and the year-old baby were sent home, but no able-bodied men were allowed to leave. The husband had to stand guard every night from six to twelve. My grandson, Lyman Haswell, graduates from High School in June, also my granddaughter, Betty Christison, in Ripon. Her brother, one of the triplets, will graduate in the Electrical Engineering course at the University. I am greatly blessed in having such fine children and grandchildren."

SHIPMAN (W. C.) Miss Caroline Shipman, of Hilo, spent the latter part of the year 1926 visiting the Orient, in the party of Prof. Jaggar, the volcanologist. She returned early in January and resumed her work in the Hilo Library, in which she is very happy. Her brother-in-law, Harold Fisher, is the owner of a high-grade, successful poultry farm at Keaau, on the island of Hawaii. In March of this year he made a record in shipping the first poultry ever exported for breeding purposes to the mainland from these islands. This was of the Australian Padman strain of White Leghorns. Virginia, the twelve-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, is attending school in Hilo and living with her grandmother Shipman.

SMITH (J. W.) Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Smith had their circle of grandchildren enlarged on December 7th last, when a second son was born in the family of their daughter Kathrine (Smith) Baldwin. They went a step further on February 2nd of this year, for then they became great-grandparents to a little boy in the home of their granddaughter Frances (Baldwin) Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Hartwell had a three months' visit at Kamuela, Hawaii, with Mrs. Edith (Hartwell) Carter, returning in January to their home on Wyllie Street.

Mrs. Charles A. Hartwell, with her two little daughters, Alicia and Lottie Lee, spent the winter months at her Honolulu home, Sans Souci, Waikiki. Martha Hartwell has been spending the year studying art in a school in Florence, Italy. "Billy" is still at the Montezuma School, Los Gatos, California.

SMITH (LOWELL). Judge and Mrs. Walter F. Frear left Honolulu the latter part of May 1926 to visit their daughter Margaret, in Berkeley, Calif., and for recreation. In company with Mrs. Caroline (Frear) Burk and her son Norvar, of Berkeley, they spent four weeks "doing" Alaska. The vivid part of that trip was seeing the sun set at 10:45 p.m. and rise again at 2.07 a.m. while they were at Dawson City, on the Yukon River. Mr. Frear returned to Honolulu the latter part of July, while Mrs. Frear and Margaret visited friends in southern California. Then came the serious auto accident in which Mrs. Frear and Margaret were injured. The far away Cousins will be thankful to know of the wonderful recovery of Mrs. Frear, the more seriously injured of the two. Although badly crippled in body, her will power and indomitable spirit, added to the hopes ad prayers of her many friends, carried her through the days of suffering and weakness in the hopsital, at La Jolla, Calif. She was able to return to her Island home in November and since then has steadily gained. Margaret has entirely recovered. A new book of poems by Mary Dillingham Frear has lately been published. It is called "Hawaiian Days and Holidays, and Days of Long Ago," and is dedicated to Mrs. Eleanor (Waterhouse) Wood, a childhood friend. Walter F. Frear, former governor of Hawaii, competed with Wallace R. Farrington, present Governor of Hawaii, in a 25-yard swimming race at the Punahou tank on December 2nd, and won. Mrs. Urban E. Wild (Virginia Frear) accompanied her husband to Washington, D. C., last spring, where Mr. Wild conducted an appeal case in the highest courts.

Walter F. Dillingham left Honolulu in November, 1926, for Washington, D. C., where on December 13th the Hawaiian Dredging Co., of which he is the President, was awarded the contract by the U. S. Navy Department for a large portion of the further dredging of Pearl Harbor, this Island. The entire dredging work to be done is referred to as a "huge contract." For variety in his busy life, Cousin Walter acts as president of the Honolulu Council of Scouts, as general chairman of the annual Honolulu Welfare "drive" for funds for charitable and Christian workers' organizations, and still plays polo. His son Lowell returned from the mainland for his vacation last summer.

Harold G. Dillingham was elected president of the Kauikeolani Children's Hospital last September. He has the support of six other "cousins" among the executives of the institution. His sons Walter and Harold, Jr., spent their summer vacation at home.

Rev. and Mrs. John P. Erdman and three younger daughters, passed the summer of 1926 at Orient, Long Island, the Erdman family home. There Harold and Louise joined them and they spent the vacation together. Mr. Erdman attended his Princeton class reunion. Mrs. Erdman and the three girls did not return until early in October, but Mr. Erdman's duties as Field Secretary of the Hawaiian Board, called him back sooner. He has since been appointed to the Treasurership of the Hawaiian Board, the position made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Theodore Richards. Harold will graduate from Princeton in June of this year. Mrs. Erdman has made her four daughters members of the Cousins' Society. We hope her brother Harold will follow her example with his five sons.

THURSTON (A.) The Winne family circle was broken May 10, 1926 by the death of the father, Jacob Pearse Winne, in his ninety-first year, at the home on Nuuanu Street. The two busy daughters, Mary and Jane, continue in the home as usual. Mary spent ten days of her summer vacation in 1926 in the Hana district, Maui, studying old Hawaiian legends and seeing the beauties of that country. Jane, as historian of the Daughters of Hawaii, read a carefully prepared paper on the life of King Lunalilo at the annual meeting of this Society on April 30, 1926. James P. Winne ably acted as chairman of the Territorial Central Committee of the Republican Party during the political campaign of 1926.

Lorrin A. Thurston and his son Robert spent ten weeks on the mainland last fall, visiting and consulting eye specialists. Although Mr. Thurston, Sr. still wields the editorial pen in a mighty way, his eyesight is far from strong. A new daughter came into the family on January 18th of this year when Lorrin Potter Thurston was married to Meredith Faithfull at an evening wedding in Central Union Church. Before the ceremony, old Hawaii airs were sung. The bride was dressed in white chiffon velvet and attended by a maid of honor, four bridesmaids and a little flower girl. The last was Barbara Smith, the four-year old niece of the groom. The decorations at the church were in green, pink and white and the gowns of the attendants were in green, pink, lavender and blue. The best man and ushers were mainly college mates of the groom at Yale. It took two ministers to tie the knot, Rev. Philip A. Swartz and Rev. John P. Erdman each having a part. A reception followed on the broad lanai of the Pleasanton Hotel, where a green and pink color scheme was used. Two days later the bride and groom sailed on a tour of the western states of the mainland and were away almost three months. While waiting for their new home to be built in Dowsett Highlands, they are living in their father's home on Bates Street.

TINKER (R.) Miss Marina L. Purdon, who has moved several times during the last two or three years, writes from 14 Prospect Street, Milford, Conn.: "You will notice I have moved to another street here and now have my long-cherished dream, a home of my own. I am looking forward to a promised visit from the Andrews (meaning our Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Andrews) when they come to the States this summer. My uncle Robert's (Robert Hall Tinker) home, Swiss Cottage, in Rockford, Ill., has been taken over by the Park Dept. of the city, but his widow is allowed to occupy the house. She is arranging cases of interesting objects from Hawaii and elsewhere to be shown to visitors in the cottage."

Miss Purdon has sent us the records of her cousins, Robert Ely and Joseph Beard Tinker. Robert lives in Buffalo, N. Y. with his wife and two sons, Theodore Beard and Sheldon Townsend Tinker. Their address is 134 Wellington Road. Joseph makes his home in Clayton, Mass., and has five children: Josephine Pamela, Robert William, Harriet Ora, Ruth Norris and Mary Elsa Tinker.

Mrs. Mary G. Weatherup writes of the marriage of her son, Donald Gordon Weatherup to Elizabeth Chase, on September 4, 1926. She says, "Donald and his wife reside in Springfield, Vermont. My daughter Margaret lives with me and is a Children's Librarian in this city (Rochester, N. Y.)

WETMORE (C. H.) Mrs. Catherine W. Deacon, of Berkeley, Calif., spent the summer and autumn months of 1926 with her sister Lucy at the latter's summer home in Maine. On December first, in company with the Misses Deyo and Helen Severance of Hilo, Mrs. Deacon sailed from New York for an extended tour abroad, which is including Europe, Palestine and Egypt.

Mrs. Lucy (Wetmore) Lewis and her husband, Charles S. Lewis, of Oakland, Calif., spent the months from April to November, 1926, at their summer home on Lake Messalonskee, near Oakland, Maine, going and returning via Panama Canal. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary, November 30th, on their return voyage while crossing the Caribbean Sea on the S. S. "Manchuria." They met each other first on November 30th, on the "Morning Star" forty-one years ago. At that time Mrs. Lewis (then Miss Lucy Wetmore) and her father, Dr. C. H. Wetmore, of Hilo, were making the voyage as delegates of the Hawaiian Board of the Micronesian Mission. Mr. Lewis was engineer on the "Morning Star."

We were glad to receive photographs of both Mrs. Deacon and Mrs. Lewis in November. These have been placed in our picture pillar.

WHITNEY (S.) From Cousin Caroline E. McCall we have received the following: "I am glad to send my mite toward the expenses of the H. M. C. Society. My thoughts often travel backward to the happy visit I had in the Paradise of the Pacific nearly twenty-seven years ago and I am glad that I had at least a glimpse of the places where the Whitneys lived and worked, and I shall always be interested in all that pertains to the welfare of 'the enchanted isles.'"

On March 17th of this year, William W. Goodale was elected chairman of the Industrial Accident Board of this city. He had acted as a member of the Board for some time. Announcement has been made of the marriage of Holbrook March Goodale to Constance Elliot-Birks on March 12, 1927, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Henry ("Harry") M. Whitney severed his business connection with C. Brewer & Co. on June 30, 1926. He had been associated with the firm for over forty years, latterly as manager of the Steamship Department. Mr. Whitney celebrated by taking a trip to California and neighboring States during the remainder of the year.

WILCOX (A.) Charles Hart Wilcox, of Piedmont, Calif., brought his wife and three daughters on a visit to the Islands last summer. He is a nephew of Cousins George N. and Samuel W. Wilcox. The two elder daughters, Dorothy and Helen, called at the Old Mission House on June 2nd as they passed through Honolulu. The family spent a month with their Wilcox relatives, enjoying the beauties and wonders of Kauai. In March of this year the three daughters, Dorothy Elizabeth, Helen Hart and Marjorie Grace, were enrolled as life members of our Society. Dorothy is studying at the University of California, Helen at Piedmont High School and Marjorie in the Piedmont Grades.

Margaret and Dorothea Sloggett, with their brother Richard, spent the summer at home on Kauai last year. On their return to the mainland in September, Dorothea entered Pine Manor School, Wellesley, Mass., with Margaret, and Edith became a freshman at Castilleja School, Palo Alto, Calif. Richard continues his studies at the Davis Agricultural School in Calif. He expects to finish his course in May of this year and return to the Islands. Mr. and Mrs. Sloggett and younger son, Arthur, accompanied the two elder girls to their eastern school, returning to the Islands via Panama Canal, with a side trip to Cuba.

Miss Elsie Wilcox spent the months of January to June 1926 in the Orient and Manila, for the purpose of studying social conditions. In the Philippines she visited the districts from which most of our Filipinos come. While in China she saw considerable of the work being carried on at that time by workers of the American and Presbyterian Boards.

Mrs. Marion (Waterhouse) Wilcox returned with her family on June 1, 1926, after spending two years in Boston, Mass., and has dropped right into her sphere of usefulness again. Mrs. Wilcox has lately built a summer residence at Kailua beach, the popular resort near Waimanalo, this Island.

Mr. George N. Wilcox is still the patron saint of many charities in these Islands. One of his latest benefits to the Salvation Army work on this island has been the enlargement of the Waioli Tea Room, built and fitted up by him a few years ago, where girls in the S. A. Girls' Home in Manoa Valley are being trained as cooks and waitresses. Here afternoon tea is served on a cool veranda or in rooms furnished in the utmost taste and originality, with a setting of rare scenic beauty of valley and ocean.

ADOPTED COUSINS

ADAMS. Mr. John Q. Adams wrote from Mount Dora, Florida, in January of this year: "The annual notice reaches us here where we are spending a part of the winter. Would that it were Hawaii instead! In place of being there I have spoken twice here at the hotel to the guests and others about the beautiful islands, once in a general description and once about the volcanoes. It was with all the old enthusiasm, but it arouses also the old desire to go again. We are both keeping pretty well and have no special news to communicate. With aloha for all our friends in Hawaii."

BABBITT. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Babbitt became grandparents on September 26, 1926, for on that date a son, named Henry Munson, was born to their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Spelman, of Cambridge, Massachusetts. Mrs. Spelman (Elizabeth Babbitt) is well known in Honolulu.

BECKWITH. Martha Beckwith has been spending a year's leave of absence from Vassar College, in India, studying up folk tales of that country.

BETT. The name of Mrs. Jessie B. Bett has been added to our list of members. It has lately been called to our attention that through inadvertence her name has been omitted for many years. She became a member of the Society in 1895 when, as Miss Jessie Brockie, she was teaching at Kawaiahao Seminary. She has been a widow for many years. With her two sons, she is now living in Canada.

BOWEN. Twice since our last report, Spencer Bowen has come from his home in New Jersey to be near his mother, in her time of need. When called in January, he was able to reach Honolulu three weeks before her death and be a real comfort. His wife came later to assist in settling estate matters. It is sad to think of there being no one left here by the name of Bowen, and that the home has been sold.

BROWN. Mr. Charles A. ("Cabby") Brown, the father of George Ii and Francis Hyde Ii Brown, of this city, returns to the Islands once a year from his home in Boston, to visit his sons and attend to business interests. While here in March of this year, he celebrated the anniversary of his arrival in Honolulu fifty years ago. Francis H. I. Brown served as Senator from the Island of Oahu in the late Legislative session, having been elected last November.

CARTER. Miss Charlotte A. Carter, after visiting in Vancouver, B. C. for several months, is keeping house in the little mountain town of Sierra Madre, California, with a friend. Her address may be found in our roster.

COLEMAN. Mrs. Horace E. Coleman, of Tokio, Japan, spent two weeks in Honolulu last February, renewing acquaintances and speaking before different groups of men and women, regarding conditions in Japan, and particularly work among the Sunday Schools of that country, in which Mr. and Mrs. Coleman have been earnest, devoted workers for many years. Mrs. Coleman is making a trip to the mainland partly in the interests of funds for a new Sunday School building and partly to see her son Horace, who is at school in one of the eastern states. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman were formerly secretaries in the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. in Honolulu.

CROZIER. Mrs. Alice (Crozier) Stevenson, with her husband and two children, arrived in December, 1926, to be near her father and her aunt, Miss Elizabeth Campbell, who felt so deeply the sudden death of Mrs. Adelaide Crozier in October. The Stevensons came here from San Antonio, Texas.

FLAXMAN. News was received here on November 29th, 1926, of the death of Miss Sarah Flaxman in Lancashire, England, four days earlier. Miss Flaxman will be remembered as a devoted member of Mrs. Juliette Atherton's family for many years. About a month before her death Miss Flaxman greatly enjoyed a visit from Cousin Clara Sutherland, through whom she heard of many of her old island friends.

FULLER. Cousin Ellen E. Fuller wrote under date of January 27, 1926, from East Auburn, California: "I am so indebted to the Annual Report of the Society for all sorts of items of interest concerning the Cousins far and near. And for that reason alone hope some day to send a larger amount than the small sum of one dollar. Dr. and Mrs. Ward during the long time spent in Hawaii met so many of our old friends that talking with them since their return has renewed the old Aloha." The Cousins who met Dr. and Mrs. Ward while here will be glad of this mention of them. Miss Fuller's P. O. Box number has been changed.

GOODALE. We have received word that the Goodale homestead in Marlboro, Massachusetts, which has belonged to the family for 220 years, was sold last summer. The tradition is that a David Goodale has always been on the place. The last one to "carry on" there was the David Goodale who was born in Honolulu, brother of Cousin William W. Goodale of our city. He has sold the place to a Mr. and Mrs. Little, of Boston, who are preserving the old house and filling it with antiques. Mr. David Goodale is now living in Reading, Massachusetts.

HOLMES. In acknowledging to Mrs. Andrews the "intensely interesting story of the old Mission Buildings," Miss Mary G. Holmes says, under date of December 26, 1926: "I am more than ever anxious to go again to beautiful Honolulu and see again those quaint old rooms. My brother David Holmes and his wife are soon visiting the Islands and I hope will make a pilgrimage to the old home of our great-aunt, Mrs. Thurston."

On February 17th of this year we had a delightful call from Mr. and Mrs. David Goodale Holmes, the "brother David" mentioned above. They were naturally interested in the Lucy G. Thurston relics in the old buildings, especially the ancient rocking chair. Mr. Holmes took photographs of the buildings and some of their contents, including the rocking chair, to take back home. We were struck with the family resemblance between Mr. Holmes and his uncle, William W. Goodale.

We have received notice of the birth of Nancy Goodale Holmes on April 22, 1926, at Montclair, N. J. We think this is the first daughter in the home of Warren Goodale and Fay (Cobb) Holmes.

HYDE. Miss Harriet S. Hyde, a connection of the C. M. Hyde family, died February 22, 1926, at Ware, Massachusetts, though we did not hear of it for mention in our last report. She had been a member of this Society since about 1879.

ISENBERG. Mrs. Beta (Glade) Isenberg, widow of Paul Isenberg, Sr., wrote from Bremen, Germany, under date of December 8, 1926, to a friend here, of having twenty-two grandchildren. Her daughter Clara, who four years ago married the musician Joseph Schwarz, became a widow November 10th last. She has two daughters who are a great comfort. Mrs. Schwarz expected to visit her son Alexander and wife in New York early this year. Mrs. Isenberg's youngest daughter Paula (Mrs. Volkmann) with her husband and two eldest children, Elfrida and Joachim, arrived February 22nd of this year for a two-months' visit in Hawaii. They were with Mrs. Dora Isenberg, at Lihue, Kauai. Mrs. Volkmann has two younger sons in Germany. This is her first visit to the Islands since her marriage.

KIMBALL. After an absence of forty years, Mrs. J. D. Kimball (better known to the older Cousins as Miss Lottie Manross) made a short visit to Hawaii last summer, renewing old acquaintances and living over the days she spent as a young teacher at Kohala Seminary. She is now a widow, living in Orange, Massachusetts, having raised a large family, mostly boys, four of whom were in the World War.

KINCAID. Under date of November 3, 1926, Mrs. Ellen D. Kincaid wrote to a friend here from Charlotte, N. C., where she was spending the winter with her son Douglas and his family. She asked to have her address changed from Philadelphia to Minneapolis. She spoke of being in Philadelphia for a Symphony concert on the 16th of October and having a delightful ten-days' visit there with her son Billy and his wife. Under date of February 9, 1927, she wrote to the Treasurer: "I have been a life member and appreciative reader of the Society's reports for many years."

KITTREDGE. Mrs. Rose (Kittredge) Cronise and Mrs. Maude (Kittredge) Nichols report themselves regularly to the Secretary. Maude lives in Haverhill, Massachusetts, and Rose in Santa Barbara, California, but for eight months of last year Maude became a Californian and the two sisters had an old-time visit. When she returned early in December, Maude took as her companion for a year, Dorothy Cronise, the younger of her sister's two daughters. Margaret Cronise is now a senior at Mills College, Berkeley, California.

LEADINGHAM. Reverend John Leadingham wrote last July on receipt of the annual report: "Life goes on about as usual with me and my family. We are now divided evenly between the East and the West. Three of the children, two girls and one boy being on the Atlantic Coast, and three, one girl and two boys being on the Pacific Coast. With the whole width of the continent between us we don't get together much." Under November 27th, 1926, he wrote again: "My daughter Gertrude, now Mrs. Edward F. Page of Scarsdale, New York, has a little daughter, Judith Marjory, born November 4th. There are now four grandchildren in the family, all in the East. My oldest son, Russell, was married in New York City to Amy Young, of Pasadena, on September 1st. Four out of the six children are now married."

LOWREY. Mr and Mrs. Alan Lowrey, and two little daughters of San Francisco, spent a month in the Islands last summer, visiting their relatives here. A large garden party was given for them in July at "Niniko", the upper Nuuanu Valley home of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lowrey.

McCULLY. Miss Anna McCully has changed her address from Church to Washington Street, Calais, Maine.

MILLS. Mrs. George S. Mills writes of the marriage of her son, Charles Sherman Mills, and of her change of address.

MOORE. Mrs. W. L. Moore and her two daughters have left the city limits and are living at Kahala, having moved into their new home in December.

POND. Percy M. Pond has retired from the automobile and returned to the real estate business, following the disincorporation of the Pond Company, Ltd. and sale of its real estate and stock.

SIMPSON. Miss Margaret F. Simpson wrote on September 28, 1926: "As she had hoped, my sister Dora was sent back to her hospital in Jhelum (India). After her three years of absence, she seemed to fall quickly and happily back into her work as physician in charge of the Good Samaritan Hospital." In linking herself up with former Island life, Miss Simpson said: "I taught at Maunaolu Seminary in the old Makawao days. Our dear Miss Potter was there at that time, also Mrs. Jessie (Cameron) Bailey and Miss Wyckoff. It was shortly before Miss Carpenter gave up her work at the Seminary. It is always a great delight to get in touch with old friends of the Island days, as we do occasionally in Washington or Florida."

Under date of February 10, 1927, Miss Simpson wrote to the Treasurer: "Sister Elizabeth and I spend about seven months in Radford, Va. (our permanent address) and the rest of the year, during the colder season, in this small though growing Florida town (Flagler Beach), that was not even touched by the hurricane of southern Florida or even hurt much by the Florida boom. My sister, Dr. Phandora Simpson, is enjoying her work in India very much. Martha Beckwith has been with her part of the winter and I am sure it has been a happiness to both of them."

SMITH. Dr. Arthur H. Smith, of our Honorary membership, passed through Honolulu on July 8, 1926. He had given fifty-four years of his life to mission work in China, but the age limit had been reached and he had been retired and was on his way to Claremont, California, to live near his relatives, Reverend and Mrs. William C. Merritt.

TERRY. Mrs. W. S. Terry returned to Hilo in January of this year after a seven months' stay in California, where she visited her nephew, Henry Porter, and his family. She went as far south as Long Beach. Mrs. Terry's sister, Mrs. Wood, has come from Ohio to make her home in Hilo.

THRUM. It is good to see our old-young friend, Thomas G. Thrum, walking our streets again with his usual smile and ready information. Some of us wondered last year who could be found to take from his shoulders the editing and publishing of Thrum's Annual. We didn't need to wonder, for without any delay or curtailment in size, the 53rd issue was out and on sale before Christmas as usual.

On January 29th of this year, Mr. Thrum became great-grandfather to little Miss Barbara White, whose grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. David ("Vida") Thrum.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. EMMA (KENNEDY) BOWEN passed to her reward on March 1, 1927.

Born in 1856, of Scotch-Irish ancestry, her father was William Kennedy, of Ontario, Canada; her mother Elizabeth Hamilton, of northern Ohio. The early years of her life were spent on her father's farm in Brunswick, Ohio, with brothers and sisters, the cultivation of whose characters was of far more importance than that of the soil. Her Christian life began early.

She studied at Baldwin University, Berea, Ohio, and at Oberlin College, Ohio.

In 1885 Emma Kennedy came to Honolulu as the bride of William A. Bowen, a young man of sterling Christian character whom she had known all her life and who had come to Honolulu about 1878 and found employment here.

For thirteen years they lived in a small cottage on Kinau Street, into which happiness and sorrow entered. Of their two children, the little daughter, Zillah, was taken from them at the age of five years. This only called forth from the parents more Christian fortitude and zeal than before.

In 1898 they moved into a larger home on Kewalo Street, the view from which at that time stretched from Diamond Head to the harbor. "Their home was an ideal one, perfectly equipped and cared for, restful, loving, cheerful and hospitable." Into this home many a friend and stranger needing rest, refreshment or encouragement was welcomed and sent on his way rejoicing.

In all of the zealous activities of her husband, Mrs. Bowen shared, at times going beyond the limit of her strength.

Saddened by the loss of her husband in 1919, she bravely faced the future. Her only son, Spencer, was by this time settled on the mainland. She was, however, able to make frequent visits to her relatives there and at other times to receive visits from Spencer and his family here. The last year of her life was largely that of a semi-invalid.

On Sunday, January 23 of this year, while at church, she was stricken with paralysis, from which she did not recover, lingering in a weakened state for five weeks. Her son was with her at the last, also her niece, Miss Mayno Pratt, who had been her companion for over a year.

A memorial service was held in Central Union Church on March 2 and the ashes laid to rest in Nuuanu cemetery beside those of her husband.

EDWARD LEEDS CLARK was the son of Rev. Cyrus A. and Mrs. Harriet (Gulick) Clark, a great-grandson of Rev. and Mrs. Peter J. Gulick, and a nephew of Mrs. Frances (Gulick) Jewett, of this city.

Mr. Clark was born in Kobe, Japan, May 23, 1890. He received his higher education at Oberlin College, after which he completed a course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This was in 1917, and at that time he accepted a position with the General Electric Co., in Schenectady, New York, where he remained until 1921.

In 1918 he married Miss Eleanor Fowle, whose parents and grandparents were missionaries in Turkey. In 1921 Mr. Clark was sent to Shanghai, China, as the representative of the General Electric Co. During the succeeding four years he filled this position, both in Shanghai and Manila, to the entire satisfaction of his company.

His health not being strong, Mr. Clark returned to Schenectady in the summer of 1925, visiting his relatives in Honolulu en route, and for the closing year of his life he was again at the headquarters of the firm he had so ably represented in the Orient.

On July 30, 1926, while at the home of his uncle, Rev. Leeds Gulick, at Fairlee, Vermont, he was called to the larger life, leaving his wife and three splendid, sturdy little sons to carry on the inheritance which has come to them through both sides of the family.

One of his relatives says: "Through his entire life Edward was faithful, indefatigable, absolutely sincere and honest in all his thinking and doing. To a large extent he earned his own way through college, yet ranked high in his college work."

From the Oberlin Alumni Magazine we quote this: "One who visited their home in Manila was deeply impressed by the sterling Christian character of both Mr. and Mrs. Clark and their firm adherence, in a godless city, to the high standards in which they had been reared. Outside of missionary circles, this is a phenomenon so rare as to be noteworthy."

HENRY TOLL CONDE was the third son of Daniel Toll and Andelucia Lee Conde, of the eighth company of missionaries to these Islands. He was born at Wailuku, Maui, January 16, 1851.

His mother died in 1855 and at the age of five years he left the Islands with his father, brothers and sisters and resided during the remainder of his life on the mainland. He entered business as a young man in Philadelphia, but gradually moved westward, engaging in the implement business in Indianapolis, Indiana, for many years, and later in the cordage business in Peoria, Illinois.

He was twice married. His first wife was Anna Josephine Commons, who died in 1917. Of their three children, two sons and a daughter, the sons only survive. These are Louis Henri Conde, of Springfield, Illinois, and Lynn Boyd Conde, of Los Angeles, Cal. His marriage to his second wife took place at Fort Wayne, Indiana, in 1919. In 1925 Mr. Conde moved to California on account of his health.

He joined the National Guard of Indiana in 1877, was promoted in rank until in 1898 he entered the Spanish-American war as a major, and was finally retired in 1916 as colonel.

He became a Master Mason in 1886 at Indianapolis and advanced through all the line offices to the highest command.

Death came to him at Los Angeles on July 2, 1926. Final funeral services were held at Indianapolis by the Grand Commandery on July 8 and the body was interred there.

He, with his widow, retained membership in the Presbyterian Church until his death and "was true to the faith of his Fathers."

He is survived by his widow, his two sons, his sister, Mrs. Lucy (Conde) King, of Portland, Oregon, and his brother, Charles A. Conde, of Camden, New Jersey.

MRS. HARRIET (STURGES) CRAWFORD, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Albert Sturges, was born on the Island of Ponape, the second white child to be born in that group. At nine years of age she was sent to Honolulu by the "Morning Star" to attend boarding school at Punahou. Going later to the United States for further schooling, she was graduated at Denmark Academy, Iowa, and afterwards taught at Grinnell.

In 1879 she was married to Rev. Matthew A. Crawford. They were soon after appointed by the American Board to its newly opened mission to Mexico and were located at Guadalajara. After some years the Crawfords removed to Sonora to open the first Protestant work in that great state, locating at Hermosillo. A remarkable beginning was made, but was cut short by Mr. Crawford's sudden death in 1894. Mrs. Crawford took her four children and went to Pomona, California. Great courage was shown in taking up alone the burden of rearing her family, denying herself, living frugally, that she might be able to give all four a college education and fit the three boys for professional service. At the same time she continually assisted in the Mexican Mission at Pomona.

Her interest in Mexico never waned. She twice went back to Hermosillo to help, at her own expense, in the mission work there. Her high ideals and practice so inspired her children that each has given years of service in foreign fields, and she was so interested in their work that she visited them each in their chosen localities. First her daughter Mabelle (Mrs. Reeder), at Gaudalajara; in 1919 she visited Dr. Albert Crawford, for five years connected with "Yale in China," now with the Henry Ford hospital in Detroit. In 1920 she came to her son David at Honolulu, who at that time was professor of biology, but is now president of the University of Hawaii. In 1921 she visited William at Singapore, who later became superintendent of public instruction at Honolulu.

During her last years Mrs. Crawford made her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Reeder, of Pasadena, California, but in 1925 came again to Honolulu to visit her two sons. In November she was stricken with paralysis and on July 16 of 1926 she fell into a peaceful sleep from which she did not awaken.

A memorial service was held on July 18 at Central Union Church. Her ashes are resting in the little Mission Cemetery, among those she thought of as her "uncles, aunts and cousins," the Gulicks, Chamberlains and Cookes, who had cared for and loved her as their own during her early school days.

MRS. ADELAIDE (CAMPBELL) HOWIE-CROZIER was born in New York City, but came to these Islands as a girl of five years with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Campbell, in 1869. Her early life was spent at Laupahoehoe, Hawaii, where her father was part owner of the plantation of that name.

She was married by Rev. S. C. Damon in Honolulu on January 31, 1883, to Mr. Joseph Gibbs Howie, a native of Greenock, Scotland. They lived at Laupahoehoe until Mr. Campbell sold his holdings there. The two families then moved to the Island of Maui, where Mr. Campbell purchased the Honolua Ranch, on the Lahaina side, and placed Mr. Howie in charge as manager. Mr.

Howie died at this place on June 27, 1889. There were two daughters by this union, Alice Bell Howie (now Mrs. C. T. Stevenson) and Florence A. Howie (now Mrs. Caleb E. S. Burns).

On July 28, 1892, Mrs. Howie was married to Mr. Charles Crozier, making her home after that in Honolulu. Three sons came into the family by this marriage, Charles Campbell Crozier, of the Bishop Trust Co.; Thomas Elmer Crozier, living in Los Angeles, California, and George Douglas Crozier, a local attorney.

Mrs. Crozier was a faithful church member, a quiet, home-loving wife and mother. For many years she gave devoted care to her widowed mother, a semi-invalid, who passed away in October, 1925.

Suddenly and quietly, on October 16, 1926, Mrs. Crozier was called from earth, leaving her husband, one sister, Elizabeth Campbell, and the two daughters and three sons mentioned. A service was held in Central Union Church and burial was in Nuuanu Cemetery.

HENRY FOWLER DAMON, second son of Samuel Mills and Harriet (Baldwin) Damon, was called by death December 19, 1926, at his home, Moanalua, this city, following an attack of influenza.

He was born at sea, January 16, 1883, on the steamer "City of Suez," while his parents were returning to the Islands from a trip to the mainland. Henry received his education at Punahou School and later Yale College, graduating from the latter in the class of 1905. Following his father's plan for him, he then went to Glasgow, Scotland, to learn the banking business. On his return in the year 1910, Henry entered the Bank of Bishop & Co., owned and directed by his father, with which firm he served during the remainder of his life. At the time of his death he was a director of the bank and also of the Bishop Trust Co.

On November 23, 1912, he married Mrs. Gertrude (McKinnon) Damon, his brother's widow. He is survived by his widow, three daughters, Harriet, Frances and Joan; one son, Henry Edward, and one stepson, Samuel Renny, now studying at Yale; also by his mother, sister, Mary M., and younger brother, Douglas W. Damon.

EDWIN HALL DIMOND was born in Honolulu on January 24, 1846, and on May 31, 1926, he passed away. He was the youngest in the family of Henry and Ann Maria Dimond, the last survivor of his generation.

His name indicates the close tie that existed between the Halls and Dimonds. A double wedding in New York in 1834; a trip following this event on the ship "Hellespont"; the pioneering years together as bookbinder and printer in the Mission; mercantile partnership for a period; long years of companionship as neighbors in Nuuanu Valley.

Edwin Dimond's life was an uneventful one; a gentle nature communing with his God and interpreting the wonders of nature into his religion. He loved the domestic animals about the home; vegetation responded to his touch with rich fruition, and the stars were an open book of knowledge to him.

Few people have thought of Edwin Dimond in the past years, so quietly has he lived in the shadow of "Coral Cottage" in Nuuanu Valley. When God called his child home in May, it was one of those natural transitions,

"When that which drew from out the boundless deep Turns again home." E. W. W.

Mr. Dimond also found occupation in mature years in the Mission bookbindery, with his father. In 1876 he spent some time as a self-supporting missionary in Canton, China.

SANFORD BALLARD DOLE was the second son of Rev. Daniel and Mrs. Emily (Ballard) Dole. His father was the first president of Punahou School, where Sanford was born, April 23, 1844. Four days after the birth of the baby the mother died and the care of the little one was undertaken, first by Mrs. Levi Chamberlain, who had him for three weeks, then by other missionary mothers. The only mother Sanford ever knew came into his life in 1846 when his father married Mrs. Charlotte (Close) Knapp. From then until his eleventh year the family home was at Punahou. Those were days of simple living, high thinking, and sharing the manual labor of the school.

When his father resigned the presidency of Punahou School in 1855, Sanford accompanied the family to Kauai to live. During the next eight years he received instruction at home from his scholarly father; returned to Punahou in 1863 and graduated with honor at the end of that school year, 1864.

It was in 1866 that the young man Sanford went to the "States" for higher education. He studied during one year at Williams College, Massachusetts, and then read law with William Brigham, the father of William T. Brigham, so well known in these Islands. Returning to Honolulu in 1869, he began the practice of law.

In 1873 he started on another trip, this time to Castine, Maine, where he was married to Anna P. Cate, a woman of rare artistic gifts and sincerity of spirit. Together, in their home on Emma Street, Honolulu, they expressed their love for the beautiful, and then shared it with others. No children were given to them, but this loss was made up by the affection of his brother George's splendid family of ten sons and three daughters, several of whom came back at different times to live with their uncle.

Mr. Dole's ability for and loyalty in filling public positions of great trust are well known. In outlining this part of his life the words of President Dean, of the College of Hawaii, are quoted when conferring, on June 16, 1919, the degree of Doctor of Laws on Sanford B. Dole: "True patriot, whose guiding hand was felt through the doubtful and troubled years of transition from a monarchy to a territory of the United States, head of the Provisional Government, President of the Republic of Hawaii, Justice of its Supreme Court, no man has yet measured the breadth and the depth of your service to these islands; wise administrator, eminent jurist, true friend, we grant you the degree of Doctor of Laws."

The death of Mrs. Dole in 1918 was a great sorrow, but in spite of this Mr. Dole continued their practice of sharing the hospitality of their home with friends, old and new, at Sunday morning breakfasts, nor did his interest in community matters lessen.

Just after his eighty-second birthday, "Cousin" Sanford was laid aside by sickness and it was clear that his days among us were numbered. Seven years previous he said, "We may not think of death as one of the evils when it comes as sleep to a tired child." Even so, as a tired child, death came gently to him on June 9, 1926.

His wish for a quiet home service was carried out, but the next day the community was allowed to express its love and sympathy in a public way. His ashes were accorded full diplomatic and royal honors in the old throne room of the ex-palace, after which a memorial service was held in Central Union Church, of which he was a member, and finally the ashes were placed in his own mother's grave in the little Mission Cemetery, Kawaiahao.

SARAH FLAXMAN. A life of unselfishness and devotion closed on November 25, 1926 when Sarah Flaxman heard her Master's summons to the mansion prepared for her to receive his commendation of "Well done."

She came to Honolulu in April, 1878, to assist Mrs. J. B. Atherton in the increasing cares of a large family. It was but a short time before she became a beloved member of the family, in whose circle she remained for over forty-three years.

Seldom does one find so devoted, loyal and loving service as Sarah Flaxman gave unstintedly throughout the long years she lived in Honolulu, and her memory is honored by every member of the Atherton family to the second and third generation.

She made also a place for herself in the hearts of a large circle of friends, both in Honolulu and her home land.

She returned to England in 1922, after Mrs. Atherton's death, to minister to an invalid sister, but her heart was in Hawaii and she longed to return. Her sister died in 1923, but circumstances would not permit Miss Sarah's return. Again it was her unselfishness that held her to duty.

"Be thou faithful unto death and I will give you a crown of life."

M. A. R.

MRS. SARAH L. (SMITH) GARLAND, 1866-1926. Born in Boston, Mass., of Pilgrim ancestry, Sarah Louise Smith was a New Englander in both home training and education.

Early in life she decided to become a foreign missionary and at the age of twenty-one was commissioned in Boston and appointed to Kusaie, Micronesia. The port of departure for Micronesia was Honolulu and we came to know the missionaries well, for they usually spent some weeks here before the "Morning Star" sailed. Miss Smith in company with Miss Hemingway and Miss Crosby were made honorary members of our Society in 1887. Farewell exercises for these missionary friends were held on the "Morning Star" just before she sailed from the wharf at the foot of Fort Street.

Miss Smith was placed in charge of the boarding and training school for girls at Kusaie. This station was recruited from the Marshall and Gilbert groups, the other training centers being at Ponape and Ruk, still farther west. It was a difficult position for a young woman of twenty-one, as gross heathenism still prevailed in some parts of the island and the teachers had to be watchful of their charges day and night.

A natural aptitude for languages, a well-trained mind, and a devoted spirit proved Miss Smith's fitness for this responsible position which she so ably filled. In 1890 she was obliged to return to the mainland with Miss Ingersoll and Miss Crosby, who had broken down under the strain of missionary life in the tropics. In spite of caring for the two invalids during the long voyage, the change brought Miss Smith refreshment of body and spirit.

In 1892 Captain Garland of the "Morning Star" claimed Miss Smith as his bride and though no longer under the American Board, for seven years thereafter she continued to visit Micronesia, bringing cheer and comfort to the missionaries by her sunny and helpful personality. Two little Garlands, the younger but six weeks old, made the long voyage down from Honolulu in swinging basket cradles. The third daughter was born in Newton, Mass.

A stay of some years in Honolulu was made following Captain Garland's resignation as master of the "Morning Star." The Garlands and their three little girls occupied a cottage far up in the wilds of Manoa Valley, on the site of what is now the Salvation Army Girls' Home. The family regretfully left Honolulu in 1908 to take up their home on the mainland.

Twelve years were spent at the Tank Home, Oberlin, Ohio, where Captain and Mrs. Garland were father and mother for a family of missionary children varying from twenty to forty-five in number. This was a heavy tax on Mrs. Garland's strength, for she gave them all a devoted mother's care.

At sixty years of age, our friend was called to the home above, her life on earth ending in Springfield, Ohio, May 2, 1926. The strong loving personality has left an imprint on many lives. Personal loyalty to Jesus Christ and devotion to high ideals was ever the inspiration of our dear friend's life.

She is survived by three sisters, her husband and three daughters, Dorothy (a librarian at Oberlin College, Ohio); Ruth (a trained nurse, now Mrs. George W. Froberg, of Honolulu), and Elizabeth (physical director of the girls' division in the high schools of Springfield, Ohio).

A. E. J.

MRS. MARY TENNEY (CASTLE) HITCHCOCK was born in the Chamberlain House, Honolulu, May 9, 1838. She was the daughter of Samuel N. and Angeline L. (Tenney) Castle. When Mary was only a few months old her parents moved into the house in the Mission which had been occupied by the Clarks and Tinkers in succession, but then became the Castle homestead.

Before Mary was three years old her mother died. Mother Chamberlain cared for her during the day and her father at night until he could take her back to the homeland, where in 1842 her Aunt Mary became her new mother, and the return trip was made to the Islands.

She received her education at Punahou in the days of President Daniel Dole, having instruction from him, from both Mr. Edward Beckwith and Mr. George Beckwith and from Mrs. Susan Mills. She would have liked to go to the mainland for higher education, but at that time her father could not afford to send her.

On April 11, 1862, she was married to Edward G. Hitchcock. During the next four years the Hitchcocks lived alternately on the island of Molokai, where Mr. Hitchcock's parents were stationed; at Onomea, Hawaii, where Mr. Hitchcock was the first manager of the plantation; at Haiku, on the island of Maui, and at Kohala Plantation, Hawaii, before settling permanently in Hilo in the year 1866.

Mrs. Hitchcock was noted for her truth, honesty and kindness to all, especially to those who needed help and comfort, and "her children rise up and call her blessed."

She was cared for most faithfully in her latter days by her devoted daughter Harriet. After three weeks of suffering she closed her eyes for the last time on the afternoon of October 16, 1926. Her ashes lie by her husband's in the beautiful Homelani Cemetery, not far from her home in Hilo.

M. H. S.

Mrs. Hitchcock's smile, her sparkling eyes, her repartee and remarkable memory for dates leave a lasting impression on many of us.

The Castle homestead spoken of, with a few modifications, still stands on King Street, and is now used as a theological school in connection with the work of the Hawaiian Board.

MRS. ESTHER (KELLOGG) HOSMER, widow of Frank A. Hosmer, died at Amherst, Mass., on October 25, 1926. Mrs. Hosmer came to Honolulu in 1890 with her husband who, for ten years, was the president of Oahu College. Though not physically able to assist her husband in his many activities in the interests of church, education and state, she outlived him by eight years. Funeral services were held from the Amherst home the day following her death.

FRANK FANNING JEWETT. 1844-1926. Memories of Frank Fanning Jewett reveal the gentleman and scholar that he was, the aroma of his sweet nature, his voice, tuneful at eighty-two, his spirit of youth in age, his mind as enriched by a sense of humor as it was studious and finely critical.

Born in a section of now larger-Boston, descended from ancestors all of whom reached America before 1638 (among them Governor Bradford and Miles Standish), he became by spiritual gravitation a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Yale in 1870, where his grandfather Fanning Tracy had been class valedictorian in 1796.

Wide experiences lay before him, graduate studies in Goettingen, Germany, a year as private assistant to Professor Wolcott Gibbs of Harvard, and four years as professor of chemistry in the Imperial University of Tokyo, Japan.

In Yokohama, in 1880, occurred what Professor Jewett would surely have regarded as the beginning of the best thing in his life, his marriage to Frances Gulick, a daughter and granddaughter of famous missionaries and a companion of rare comradeliness in her devotion to him. In the year of his marriage, Professor Jewett accepted a call to Oberlin College, where, until reaching the prescribed age of retirement, he remained head of the department of chemistry.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewett came to Honolulu in 1923. And here in their own home in beautiful Manoa Valley, Mr. Jewett passed away on the first of July, 1926. Many expressions in words and flowers paid tribute to the esteem and affection in which Mr. Jewett was held, immediately made kamaaina among the islanders.

Soon after his death his successor, Professor Holmes, in a tribute published in "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry," wrote of Mr. Jewett as an "able chemist, a remarkable teacher, a beloved friend." He congratulated Oberlin on having had "a man of such training and standards of work," who "for thirty-two years put his whole soul into building a great department,—that might well be his monument." He tells how, at the fiftieth reunion of his class at Yale, Mr. Jewett said: "My great discovery has been the discovery of a man." Thus spoke the modest teacher, the man through whose suggestion Charles Hall began his search for aluminum and under whose continued inspiration, training and assistance the young student invented the electrolytic process of freeing aluminum from its ores. Commenting on the share which Mr. Jewett had in the discovery itself, Dr. Holmes remarks: "For that the world is his debtor. The inspiring teacher who trains and encourages an inventor deserves much of the credit. The world hangs all the wreaths on the inventor. Sympathetic teachers know better."

Professor Jewett was the author of several works on chemistry. He was active in church, missionary and civic affairs of Oberlin.

A full sketch of his life, with his portrait, is now appearing in the latest volume of the National Cyclopedia of American Biography.

The Oberlin Review, voicing teachers and pupils, upon Mr. Jewett's retirement from active service in 1912, closed an enthusiastic appreciation of him thus: "It is a great thing to know a few men who justify one's faith in life. Such a man is Professor Jewett. He has been known to hundreds of men and women whose lives are stronger just because they knew him. We give him unreservedly the love of our hearts."

To him may well be given George Eliot's paean of praise, "So to live is heaven; to make undying music in the world."

MRS. ELLEN (HARVEY) McCULLY-HIGGINS LEWIS. 1844-1926. Ardently attached to the country of her adoption, our friend regarded Hawaii ever with tender and loving affection. For more than sixty years she was in close touch with the life of Honolulu and was always vitally interested in the spiritual growth of our beloved Islands.

She came in 1865 to Honolulu as Miss Ellen Harvey, a governess in the family of Justice Elisha Allen. A year later she married Lawrence McCully, a young lawyer from New York. They made their home in spacious grounds at Pawaa near the corner of Alexander and King Streets, then far "out of town."

Mrs. McCully was a gracious hostess in the days of the monarchy and attended all the court functions after her husband was appointed to the bench of the Supreme Court. She served on the "Maile Wreath" of the Cousins' Society, was an elective member of the Board, led in the prayer meetings at Kawaiahao Seminary every Monday afternoon, and was deeply interested in the evangelization of the people of "Fowler's Yard," Honolulu's slum, near the site of the present Hawaii Theater. She is remembered as a devoted Christian worker, a woman of pronounced religious views, and having the courage of her convictions.

After Judge McCully's death in 1892, she returned to the mainland with her daughter Alice. In 1895 she married Rev. John H. Higgins, of Charleston, Maine, and resided in her home state for fifteen subsequent years, ever longing for the bright skies and the sunshine of Hawaii. She was of great assistance to her husband in the institute which he had founded for young men and women and in the care of the four country churches which he had built and was supporting. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins took turns supplying the pulpits every Sunday, even in the depth of the severest New England winter.

During these years Mrs. Higgins came several times to Honolulu and also visited her daughter Alice, who had married and settled in California. Mr. Higgins died in 1910 and his widow spent a part of 1911 and 1915 in Honolulu. In 1920 she came again to be present at the Mission Centennial. Here she met Mr. Franklin F. Lewis, of Janesville, Wisconsin, who had spent several winters in Hawaii. They were married at Charleston, Maine, in 1921 and returned to Honolulu in 1922 to see their friends.

This was Mrs. Lewis' last visit to Hawaii, but her keen interest continued to the day of her death and she always longed to come again. She died September 12, 1926, at Janesville, Wisconsin, having suffered for two years from injuries sustained in a fall. Bright in mind and interested in young people, even in her invalidism, she organized the "Jolly Social Club" of young working men who met at her home every Friday evening, where they played games and heard readings. These young men were broken-hearted at her death, as they regarded her as their adopted mother.

She is survived by her husband, her daughter, Mrs. Henry Arthur Dodge, of Oakland, California, and by two grand-daughters, Frances Ellen and Laura Susanne Smith.

A. E. J.

FREDERICK SNOWDEN LYMAN passed away from the home of his sister, Ellen G. Lyman, in Hilo on January 13, 1927.

He was the son of Frederick Swartz and Isabella (Chamberlain) Lyman and was born May 7, 1863 in the Chamberlain House, Honolulu, his mother's home. As a boy he lived with his parents in the Kau district of the Island of Hawaii, experiencing there the great earthquake of 1868, later moving with the family to Hilo.

His early education was received at home. From his thirteenth to his eighteenth years, he attended Punahou School, then left for the mainland with his sister Ellen and twin brother Frank, and entered Beloit Preparatory School, in Wisconsin.

His occupational preference was agriculture and after leaving the Beloit School he spent several years on farms in Ohio. Returning to the Islands, he became connected with the lumber department of the firm of Lewers & Cooke, Ltd., acting as foreman for many years.

On January 7, 1889 he married Mary A. M. Babcock, daughter of Captain and Mrs. William Babcock, of Honolulu, and for a period of years made his home with the Babcock family on Piikoi Street.

In August, 1907, Fred severed his connection with Lewers & Cooke and took up a homestead at Paumalu, Oahu. There he pioneered, improved the land and showed what diversified products could be raised by hard and diligent labor. He not only grew pineapples on the uplands, but developed water for irrigation on the lowlands and there raised sugar cane, fowls, rabbits, pigs and cattle, sending his produce to Honolulu. This he continued to do until 1920, when he disposed of his farm and with his wife went to the mainland on their deferred "wedding trip." While in California on this trip he suffered a severe illness which kept him there a year and from which he never entirely recovered.

He inherited a love for flowers and plants and wherever he lived surrounded his home with what would bring forth beautiful blooms, having what the Hawaiians call "the growing hand."

From his home on Alewa Heights, Honolulu, he and his wife left for Hilo in December last, hoping that the change to another island would benefit his health, but this was not to be. A happy Christmas season, with members of the family about him, drives through the streets of his once home town, several days of extreme weakness, then his spirit took its flight at the close of the day. His ashes lie next to those of his twin brother, in the family plot, Homelani Cemetery, Hilo.

MRS. ELOISE (WICHMAN) OLDYS died in Washington, D. C. on October 28, 1926.

She was born in Honolulu, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Wichman, her father being the founder of the well-known jewelry firm of H. F. Wichman & Co. By her first marriage to F. Dickson Nott, of Honolulu, she leaves one son, Carter Nott. On October 22, 1921, she married Lieut. Robert Oldys, of the U. S. Air Service, then stationed on Oahu, and leaves two sons by this marriage. Her sister Stephanie, Mrs. Francis Ii Brown, of Honolulu, hearing of the serious illness of Mrs. Oldys, hastened to her bedside, but was on the ocean when news of her death was received. In addition to her husband, sons and sisters, she is survived by her brother, Frederick W. Wichman, now of Oakland, Calif.

REV. FRED T. ROUSE died early in 1926 in Florida. Mr. Rouse came to Hawaii about 1885 on a visit to his parents and two sisters residing at Grove Ranch, Maui. His father was then minister of the Makawao Foreign Church, following the pastorate of Rev. Thomas L. Gulick.

Fresh from the Theological Seminary, though not yet a licensed preacher, this tall, thin, earnest-looking young man was very enthusiastic in his chosen work. For some months he supplied his father's pulpit and his youthful buoyancy and optimism carried the gospel of cheer, courage, faith and hope to many hearts. He made many friends, and it was at this time that he became a member of the Cousins' Society.

Those who knew Mr. Rouse were not surprised to hear of his later success in some of the large cities of the Western States. In West Superior, Wisconsin, "he impressed himself for good upon the people in many ways and was considered the leading preacher of the city." In 1903 he was settled over a church of one thousand members at Appleton, Wisconsin, "a successful minister and fine preacher," and in 1908 he was called to the First Church of Omaha, Nebraska, where he remained for some yars. In 1917 he enjoyed his first interim in church pastorates for twenty years. In 1919 he became the pastor of Pilgrim Church, Worcester, Mass., serving there until his death.

On October 24, 1926, the Pilgrim Church dedicated a memorial tablet to him, bearing the following inscription "Frederick Thomas Rouse, D. D., 1859-1926. Pastor of this church 1916-1926. We recall his clear, straight thinking, his love of nature and nature's God, his world vision, and his Christlike spirit. This tablet is placed in loving remembrance by his people."

"For of Such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

LYMAN. Living near the ocean and amusing himself while others in the family were caring for his sick brother, Charles Wesley Reid paddled out in a make-believe boat in Hilo Bay. The water was deep for a small boy and he could not swim. There, as other fishermen of old heard the call to "Follow Me," Charlie answered with his bright young life of eight years, the voice of the same Master.

HALL. Obeying with swift feet her earthly father's bidding to cross the street and come home, little six-year old Jane Worrall ran straight into the path of danger and was fatally injured. Five hours later she obeyed the bidding of her Heavenly Father and entered her new home. We feel sure there were many hands outstretched to meet her.

CASTLE. Anne Tozzer, the eight-year old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Castle, was vacationing with her parents and younger sister in the New Hampshire mountains last summer. Happy amidst the flowers of the field and the birds of the air, she was stricken with a brief illness and transplanted to those other fields that "eye hath not seen."

Respectfully submitted,

HARRIET G. FORBES, Secretary.

ERRATA IN 1926 REPORT

Page 29. Bond (E.) The two daughters of Mrs. Edith (Bond) Howard are registered for entry to Smith College not in the fall of 1926, but as follows: Barbara in 1929 and Elizabeth (Betty) in 1931.

Page 31. Chamberlain (D.) Nancy was the fifth child, not "the youngest of their seven children." She was born before, not "after the Chamberlains left the Islands."

We have lost track of the following Cousins. Can any one give us their present address, or if they are not living, the date and place of their death? Please send to

LIFE MEMBERS OF THE HAWAIIAN MISSION CHILDREN'S SOCIETY, 1926-1927

SYMBOLS IN THE LIST OF MEMBERS

Original members of the Society, whether children of missionaries or elect members, have their names printed in the usual manner. The names of their children are preceded by one star, and those of children's children by two stars.

In many cases the name is preceded by a symbol in the margin, which denotes the person's missionary parentage or ancestry and the key to the symbols is the list below, in which the missionary names are given, but no titles.

PLEASE NOTE

If our members who change their addresses will notify us promptly, it will save us much trouble and extra postage. We do want to keep in touch with you, but many reports and letters come back to us marked "Moved, Left No Address," etc. Then we have to start out on a search party for the new address. Sometimes we can trace it, sometimes not. The result is a loss, to you and us.
